Real Live Wire!

LONDON (UPI) — When Australian visitor John Moffatt threw a dart in the King's Head pub last night, he missed the board and hit a light bulb instead.

All the lights in the pub shorted out.

Pub keeper Bruce Newton fell downstairs while looking for the fusebox.

Newton's dog Bilko bit his master in the leg.

Bartender Daryl Hodge rushed his hand on a glass in the darkness.

Somebody stole the dart board.

Tend Land Russia Tells China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union told Communist China Tuesday to forget about trying to become a nuclear power and devote its energies toward economic development.

The advice was contained in a vitriolic, 2,000-word statement published by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, which Tass described as "an evaluation" of the Communist Chinese charge last Thursday that Moscow had reneged on a pledge to give nuclear arms to Peking.

Tass did not specifically deny or confirm the charge. It said that China was annoyed with "a policy of the Soviet Union and other socialist states of not spreading nuclear weapons."

NO DENIAL

The nuclear might of the Soviet Union reliably stands guard over the interests of the peoples fighting for social and national liberation," Tass said.

Curbs Adequate Kennedy Insists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy expressed confidence Tuesday adequate safeguards will be provided for the security of the United States if the Senate ratifies the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Reds Call For End To Bases

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia insisted Tuesday even unarmed foreign military bases must be eliminated in the first stage of disarmament.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that whatever the legal basis might be, bases reserved for foreign use must be dismantled, even though there might be no troops in them.

Tsarapkin also said Russia is opposed to exchange of static observation posts between East and West unless this control is accompanied by disarmament measures.

Snoop Fired

NOT SPRINGFIELD, S.D. (CP) This community's police chief was fired Tuesday for placing a hidden microphone in the city council chamber.

Mayor Chuck McEllean, who fired Chief Charles Fleishman, 58, and Patrolman Frank Miller, 43, said "an outside source" tipped him the two wanted to tape an expected council discussion of a pay increase for Miller. But the meeting didn't discuss it.

Drilling Continues

Third Miner Still Alive

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — A third missing miner, who hadn't been heard from in nearly 40 hours, made contact Tuesday night with the other two who have been separated from him by debris 331 feet underground since a cave-in eight days ago. He was reported alive but in weak condition.

David Fellin, one of the trapped miners who has been communicating with authorities through a microphone lowered down a six-inch hole, reported that he shouted the name of the third missing man, Louis Bova, 42, and heard Bova call back.

Fellin said he talked to Bova twice but could not determine what he said. He said Bova is weak and "I told him don't waste your energy." Fellin said Bova rapped twice.

COMMUNICATED

Another miner with Fellin, Henry Throne, is communicating with the surface through a similar six-inch shaft.

Near it rescue workers kept at the tedious job of drilling an escape hole through hard rock 331 feet down to Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28.

Fellin earlier had told his weeping wife, Anna, "I'm all right, but cold."

ROCK SLIDE

The three men were trapped by a rock slide Aug. 13. They were all but given up for dead before a drill cut a six-inch hole to the chamber holding Throne and Fellin just before midnight on Sunday.

This six-inch hole has become a lifeline, enabling food and medicine to be sent down to Fellin and Throne. It is used also for communicating with the men.

Landslide
Winner

Back in British House of Commons is Anthony Wedgwood Benn, former MP and later "rebel" peer, who won campaign against rule against Commons seats for peers. In Bristol by-election, he won 30,313 votes compared to total of 5,163 for three independent opponents. Tories and Liberals did not oppose Laborite winner.

Not for 'Real Smashers'

Widower for Sale

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A 37-year-old widower advertised himself for sale Tuesday for £1,200 Australian ($2,516). The buyer will get four children, a fully furnished house and a car thrown in.

THE man, who did not give his name, invited offers from any woman between 28 and 36 who would like to get married.

But he said "no beauty queens need apply" because he would feel uneasy if he was seen walking down the street with a "real smasher."

110 Perish In Mosque

NAGPUR, India (Reuters) — About 110 persons were killed Tuesday night when a mosque collapsed at Yodmal, 85 miles southwest of here.

The mosque fell while 300 people were inside praying. Police said 68 were seriously hurt and another 100 slightly injured.

State Of Siege

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The South Viet Nam government has declared a state of siege throughout the country, according to an English-language broadcast by Saigon radio monitored here today.

In the growing crisis between the predominantly Roman Catholic government and the Buddhists, crack troops and police riot squads moved in and occupied leading Buddhist temples including Xa Loi Padoga and Tu Dam Padoga in Hue.

In the operation against Xa Loi Padoga, there were casualties but details were not available, diplomatic sources said.

Troops and police pursued monks who fled from Xa Loi. Xa Loi is in Saigon and is one of the main gathering places for Buddhists protesting religious discrimination by the government. Informed sources said that police occupied Xa Loi.

There was some shooting and casualties in Saigon and the main post office was closed.

The army had taken over all communications facilities, the radio said.

Israel Syria Clash

JERUSALEM (AP) — Violence erupted in the air and on the ground Tuesday along the Israeli-Syrian armistice line north of the Sea of Galilee.

Syria and Israel promptly accused each other of aggression, and both sides claimed aerial victories.

Israel notified UN Secretary-General U Thant in New York that it will ask for an urgent meeting of the UN Security Council on the conflict.

The Syrian government termed the air and ground clashes "serious Israeli aggression" and ordered its UN delegate to bring the situation to the immediate attention of U Thant.

AGASSIZ (CP) — The trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors reached their oft-proclaimed goal Tuesday, setting up camp close to the barbed wire walls of Mountain Prison and promptly declaring a mass fast.

There was no violence despite a confrontation between the 650 Freedomites and a knot of RCMP D (Doukhobor) Squad officers within scant yards of the big steel gate of the prison.

After an unsuccessful attempt to obtain permission to enter the prison to join their 106 fasting brethren, jailed for terrorist activities, the Freedomites called a prayer meeting.

RUSSIAN HYMNS

Amid chanting of Russian hymns, Mrs. Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff, leader of the sect's year-long trek from their burned-out Kootenay homes, announced: "They will start fasting today."

The Freedomites then began setting up a sprawling tent camp on municipal land within hailing distance of the concrete-and-steel fireproof prison.

SET UP TENTS

As the Freedomites set up tents, chopped down trees and hauled water to their new campsite following Tuesday's migration from Vancouver, municipal officials looked on without comment.

Later, Mrs. Lewis Davis, wife of the acting reeve, said municipal officials decided to "let them stay . . . and we'll try and decide today what to do with them."

NO DECISION

There was no decision on enforcement of a bylaw restricting tent camps to 10 persons an acre.

There was no immediate move by RCMP to enforce the bylaw or move the chanting Freedomites, who travelled here by car, truck and chartered bus from Victoria Square in downtown Vancouver.

KENT BYLAW

In Victoria, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said only that the Kent bylaw concerning camping appeared to be valid and would be enforced. No special instructions to RCMP were necessary, he said.

At one point during the evening, the Freedomites held a hymn singing, fearful meeting only 100 yards from the gates of the prison, where the imprisoned Freedomites are in the 30th day of a hunger strike.

MCLEOD WATCHES

Watching were A. J. McLeod, commissioner of federal penitentiaries, Warden Tom Hall and a knot of RCMP officers.

Shortly after their arrival here, about 100 Freedomites, led by Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff and Andrew Makoroff, an elder of the sect, approached the prison but were stopped by RCMP.

STAY INSIDE

The Freedomites asked to be allowed inside to stay with their imprisoned brethren. They were refused.

"As long as there is no trouble we won't bother you," RCMP Sgt. John Stinson, head of the "D" squad, told the Freedomites.

"But I cannot allow anyone into the prison."

The Freedomites then dispersed and began setting up camp.

B.C. Quits Tolls 'Forever'

The Social Credit government has abandoned tolls forever, Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday.

He made the statement following Premier Bennett's announcement in Vancouver that tolls would be removed next year from the Oak Street bridge and Deas Island tunnel.

"With the general buoyancy of the economy, we are now able to divest ourselves of tolls as a policy or even as an expediency," the attorney-general said.

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson said Tuesday he has received little reaction from across the country to the hefty pay increase that MPs voted themselves.

Socreds Split In Ontario

TORONTO (UPI) — The Ontario Social Credit organization split Tuesday on whether the party would enter the Sept. 25 Ontario election.

Three Toronto Socred candidates were nominated Monday but Richard Day, an executive of the provincial Social Credit League, said the party would not contest the election.

James Audy, of a Social Credit action group not recognized by Day, said the group backed the trio and added: "We are the fighters who went through an election and lost. We are the people who count. Unfortunately there are a few like Richard Day . . . they are no credit to Social Credit."

Negroes Scattered By Police Guns

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police fired rifle and shotgun blasts in the air in attempts to disperse large crowds of Negroes who gathered after an explosion extensively damaged the home of a Negro lawyer Tuesday night.

Police said one officer was injured when hit in the chest by a large rock. He was taken to hospital for x-rays.

There were no reports of further injuries.

Police said the home of lawyer Arthur D. Shores was hit by an undetermined type of explosive. No one was injured in the blast. Shores was home alone at the time.

RECENTLY WITHDREW

Shores is a lawyer for James A. Hood, a Negro student who recently withdrew from the University of Alabama on the advice of his physician.

Police called for reinforcements. An officer on the scene said large crowds were gathering and rocks and bricks were being thrown at officers.

Several fire trucks were dispatched to the north Birmingham section for lighting purposes, police said.

TEN DEMANDS

In New York leaders of the Aug. 28 civil rights march on Washington issued final instructions for the gigantic protest and for the first time detailed 10 demands the expected 100,000 marchers will present to President Kennedy.

In addition to support for President Kennedy's package of civil rights legislation, the demonstration leaders demanded immediate desegregation of all school districts, a minimum wage of $2 per hour or more and reducing the Congressional representation of any state continuing a policy of racial discrimination.

Sky Blast Baffles Australia

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A tremendous atmospheric explosion shook buildings in the Kimberley mountain area of western Australia Monday night, it was reported Tuesday.

Observers said they saw a trail of smoke and a ball of brilliant orange flame and heard an explosion. A weather office spokesman said cause of the explosion was unexplained.

Satellites sometimes burn themselves up and explode, he said, and that this could have happened.

High Bids May Halt Additions

Bids on construction of additions to the Kiwanis Village development were so far above estimates that the project will likely be shelved for this year.

Original plans called for a start on the construction late this month and occupation of the additional 16 single-room living units by Christmas.

William J. Lyle, president of the Kiwanis Village Society, said last night the financing for the planned additions had been based on the architect's estimates.

Bids will be reviewed soon at a special meeting of the society's executive.

Your Good Health

Many Have Heart Attacks But Fail to Realize It

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband's cardiogram recently showed a posterior wall infarction.

In a recent article you stated that this "would mean narrowing of the heart muscle, which would be the heart attack." My husband had no heart attack. Please explain this.—Mrs. L.B.

The whole explanation lies in six words that you didn't write. If you had said, "My husband had no heart attack which we recognized at the time," the last six words would tell the whole story.

BLOOD INTERRUPTION
A heart attack means an interruption of the blood flow in one of the branches of the coronary artery, which serves the heart muscle.

If a large part of the blood flow is shut off, then a large part of the heart muscle is affected. If the stoppage is farther along, in one of the smaller branches, a small part of the muscle is damaged.

Whether large or small, it is still an attack in the sense that we use the term for coronary heart disease.

The cardiogram shows an infarct or infarction. This means that a portion of the tissue is not normal and scar tissue is forming or has formed around it. Your husband had heart trouble, even though you and he were not aware of it.

INDIGESTION
Such cases are not particularly uncommon. Cardiologists are forever encountering patients who haven't the slightest notion that this has happened. The most likely explanation is that they passed it off as a bad attack of indigestion.

You've probably read—but not really noticed—warnings about acute attacks of "indigestion."

Even in unmistakable heart attacks, the majority are not fatal.

But all are dangerous and all do some damage. Some people have a series of comparatively light attacks.

If they find out what is happening, and take care of themselves, they can remain in pretty good health. If they fail or refuse to recognize the truth, they are in grave danger.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter and her husband kiss their baby on the mouth and encourage the grandparents and relatives and friends to do the same. Isn't this dangerous?—A.R.

I realize that your're begging the question, but I agree with you. I do not favor kissing babies on the lips.

The soft, warm, moist surfaces of nose, mouth and throat are ideal roosting places for all sorts of germs, good and bad, major and minor. Colds, flu, miscellaneous viruses, strep, staphylococcus—you name it.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a diaphragm is inserted incorrectly and pregnancy results, could the baby be harmed in any way?—D.A.

No.

NOTE TO C.V.A.: Yes, the tendency toward allergies can be inherited. I stress "can" and not "will."

Shipyard Gets Job, Plans Expansion

Victoria's third-largest shipyard, McKay-Cormack Ltd., hopes to double its work force following award of a $61,700 contract Tuesday for a 51-foot patrol vessel for the B.C. federal fisheries fleet.

"We are expecting other contracts in the near future and hope to double our work force in the next few months," E.C.

Warner, president of the shipyard told The Daily Colonist last night. Present payroll numbers about 30 men, he said.

BOUGHT CONTROL
Mr. Warner heads a Victoria group which recently bought control of the shipyard.

The new ship will replace the Vancouver-based patrol vessel Beldia, built in 1928. It will also be used in salmon management, herring spawning surveys and other work.

START AT ONCE
"We will start work immediately on the contract," Mr. Warner said.

"We are also starting work on our new larger slipway," he said.

"This will mean we can handle 200-foot vessels. At present 90 feet is the limit. The slipway should be completed within six months."

First Phase

Traffic Study Starts Today

First phase of a year-long traffic study aimed at finding the capital region's future road needs will begin today.

The project, financed by the provincial government and Greater Victoria municipalities, will be carried out by Traffic Research of Toronto, with the N. D. Lee and Associates firm of Vancouver as co-consultants.

In charge of the survey here is Michael Gittens, principal project engineer for the Toronto firm, who will be in Victoria for the next two months while collecting data which later will be processed by a computing machine.

Mr. Gittens and three men from the Vancouver firm will start by interviewing thousands of travellers here today through Friday.

They will conduct brief interviews at the Patricia Bay Airport and the CPR and Black Ball ferry terminals in Inner Harbor today, on the Trans-Canada Highway Thursday, and at the Swartz Bay and Sidney ferry terminals Friday.

Extensive surveys of local traffic movement here along with all types of known statistics will go into the huge effort from which it is hoped that future traffic patterns as far ahead as 1961 can be learned.

TO SEE BUILDINGS
From there they will proceed to the legislative buildings where they will be greeted by Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood.

Acting mayor Arthur Dowell will greet the party at city hall at 3 p.m.

TO TOUR CITY
Then the boys will take a sight-seeing tour of the city. They will return to Vancouver on the 9 p.m. ferry from Swartz Bay, and will return to Toronto by train on the weekend.

Teen-Age Soldiers Praised

Almost 200 relatives and friends from all over B.C. gathered at the parade square of Royal Roads Tuesday to watch the review and final inspection of members of the Young Soldiers Training Plan, following six weeks of summer camp at Albert Head.

FUTURE OF CANADA
"The future of Canada lies in the hands of young men like you," Major-General J. R. Rockingham, general officer commanding, Western Command, told the 16-to-19-year-old soldiers from 18 B.C. militia units.

"I compliment you on the excellent turnout on your drill and marching," he said.

Boy Killed By Tractor

COURTENAY (CP)—Stephen Slade, 14, died Tuesday when pinned beneath a farm tractor on Hornby Island, 20 miles southeast of here.

The boy died before an RCMP helicopter could reach the island on a mercy flight.

Sorority Founder Dies

Organizer of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in Victoria, Mrs. Alice Maude Gordon, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday. She was 70.

Mrs. Gordon was an active member of Metropolitan United Church for many years. She is survived by her husband, Wesley, at home, 5651 Patricia Bay Highway, and two nieces.

Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. Floral Chapel at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James officiating.

Big Belgrade Welcome

Chums Tito, Khrushchev Agree Test Treaty Good

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev Tuesday night described the partial nuclear test-ban treaty as one step on the way to a peaceful solution of East-West problems.

Khrushchev made the remark at a dinner being given by President Tito following a triumphant arrival by the Russian premier for a two-week working vacation.

"Of course we do not think this treaty solves essential problems of disarmament," Khrushchev added, "but it is impossible not to see that this treaty creates more favorable conditions for moving forward towards the solution of this important problem."

RELAX TENSION

Khrushchev praised Yugoslavia's activity aimed at relaxing international tension and preventing world war.

"Soviet Communists as well as all Marxist-Leninists, are firmly convinced that through the joint efforts of socialist countries and all peace-loving countries and peoples, it is possible to avoid a thermo-nuclear catastrophe and not to permit the aggressive forces to divert humanity from the peaceful road of development," he said.

DINNER TOAST

Tito said in a toast at the dinner the test-ban treaty was "a victory for reason and a defeat for the policy of reactionary circles no matter what color they are painted."

There was agreement between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union in the most important international questions and the two countries were striving together to achieve further results in safeguarding peace, peaceful coexistence and socialism, he said.

DECKED STREETS

Premier Khrushchev received an emotional welcome from President Tito and drove through flag-decked streets to shouts of "Tito, Khrushchev."

Khrushchev pointedly referred to his host country as "socialist Yugoslavia" — one more rebuff to Chinese Communism.

But Be Strong Now, Anglicans Told

Their Destiny: To Vanish

TORONTO (CP) — Speakers at the Anglican World Congress said Tuesday the ultimate destiny of their church is to vanish in Christian unity but in the meantime it should be strengthened.

Bishop Stephen Bayne, London-based executive officer of the Anglican communion, quoted himself saying on other occasions that "the vocation of the Anglican communion is to disappear."

But it does not mean suicide, he said, "it does not mean the abandonment of the great gifts which God has given us, all undeserving as we are."

Inter-Anglican consultation and organization must be "greatly strengthened" through special central administrative and executive agencies.

Bishop William Glyn Hughes

Simon of Llandaff, Wales, said that "possibly the Anglican communion has done its work and must disappear."

The "deep but swift change" essential in the church could cause it to break up, he said.

"If it happens it will be God's will, but I think the Anglican Church still has much to do."

"Some kind of central direction, whether we want it or not, will be necessary" to guide world-wide Anglican strategy, he said.

Earlier, the archbishop of East Africa snubbed delegates at the Anglican congress today for being "superficial and flippant" when dealing with an African bishop's comments on polygamy.

Most Rev. Leonard James Beecher of Mombasa said he was ashamed, "as an adopted son of Africa," to see Rt. Rev. S. O. Odutola's remarks "treated by us in a superficial and flippant manner."

SHOULDN'T QUIBBLE

Bishop Odutola, of Ibadan, West Africa, told congress delegates Monday that Christian missionaries shouldn't quibble about Africans who enter polygamous relationships.

"You are not so good," he said, noting the low level of Western morality.

River Talks Start Soon

OTTAWA (UPI) — Crucial Canadian-American negotiations will begin shortly to try to settle the key outstanding issue of the Columbia River treaty, it was learned Tuesday.

Informed sources said representatives of the Canadian, United States and B.C. governments will meet "within a month" to discuss the important question of price and contract for the disposal of downstream power benefits.

The informants said that while a site for the meeting had not been confirmed, it probably would be either in Washington or in the Pacific Northwest area of the Columbia itself.

Bricklayer Pulls ON Pants And Swims to the Rescue

BOURNEMOUTH, England — Jim Williams, a 27-year-old bricklayer, was lounging on the beach when he heard a cry for help.

Kicking off his sandals, he pushed through the crowds and ripped off his trousers when he reached the water line.

Then he froze—and blushed. He'd forgotten his bathing trunks.

"I pulled up my trousers, swam out to the man in trouble, dragged him out, made sure he was all right—and didn't stick around to be thanked," Jim said.

LOS ANGELES — Actress Dorothy Malone, winner of an Academy Award in 1956, and estranged husband, French-born actor Jacques Bergerac, appeared in court here in a custody battle over their two young daughters. The actor wants her cited for contempt because, he says, she sticks out her tongue and calls him a "mean and nasty man" when she brings the daughters for a visit.

Pulp Mill Blast Toll Now Seven

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three pulp workers died in hospital Tuesday, bringing to seven the death toll in Sunday's explosion which wrecked a mill at Wood-fibre, B.C., 20 miles northwest of here.

The latest victims were William (Bud) James, 39; Tony Zweirko, 41, and James Fortier. Harcham Kler, Barry McKay, Lawrence St. Laurent and Jurgen Albert Muller were killed instantly in the blast which occurred in a seven-storey recovery room.

BADLY BURNED

One other man, badly burned and scalded when sprayed with a caustic chemical known as "black liquor," remained in poor condition in hospital.

The ninth man on the team at work in the room when the blast occurred—John Humber—was released from hospital earlier.

'Pirates' Hit Cuba Again

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government charged Tuesday two small "pirate" boats made a hit-and-run attack with bazookas and machine-guns on a north coast sulphur plant Monday, puncturing oil and acid tanks and some pipelines.

A communiqué blamed the U.S. government "for this cowardly attack," the third pirate attack in 72 hours, which proves once more that the beginning of a new plan of aggression against Cuba is under way, as announced by the American press.

"Cuba is faced with the necessity of taking up measures to assure the defence of our country against the new aggressive plans of the United States."

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, in a lengthy statement broadcast by the New China news agency, Tuesday denied Indian Prime Minister Nehru's Aug. 16 charge that Chinese troops were concentrating along the Sino-Indian border.

"Not matter how many rumors the Indian government may spread, in fact the Sino-Indian border situation will not become tense again so long as the Indian troops refrain from invasion," the statement said. "Rumors are, after all, only rumors."

A Matter of System

A RECENT SURVEY of jobless workers in 23 American cities has resulted in a finding that the unemployment statistics presently used "are no longer a valid or accurate indicator of the health of the economy."

The organization conducting the survey found that among all the out-of-work persons interviewed, six out of ten could be described as only technically unemployed—such as construction workers who had finished one project and were waiting for another, retired people looking for only part-time work, or those who had chosen to quit jobs for various personal reasons.

It was further found that four out of ten unemployed married persons had a husband or wife working, and that ten per cent of the total questioned admitted they could get jobs if they were willing to take less money.

Thus, the organization concluded, the present system of reporting the gross number of unemployed failed to show how many persons there are who really need to be helped: the breadwinners involuntarily out of work.

It could not be suggested with any degree of certainty that a similar survey in Canada would come up with the same answers. However, it is interesting to note that Canada uses the same system as the United States in officially reporting the numbers of unemployed by simply announcing the total number of persons out of work each month.

American officials, it might be added, are now seriously considering the adoption of a new method which would to a large degree define the extent and actual nature of unemployment.

It has long been realized in Canada—even among the politicians who make such use of them during election campaigns—that our unemployment statistics are anything but precise. They are indeed far too open to question and deeper analysis to be accepted as a mirror of existing conditions.

At the moment, according to the Bureau of Statistics and the federal department of labor, employment in the month of July stood at its highest in history, with 6,742,000 Canadians working out of a total labor force of 7,035,000.

The remaining 293,000 who were out of work constitute 4.2 per cent of the force, a figure which compares favorably with 4.5 per cent a year earlier and 5.2 per cent two years ago.

If the statistics arrived at by the U.S. survey were applicable to this could mean that of this total some 175,000 were only technically unemployed—and that the real figure of Canadian jobless would be something less than 118,000, or 1.6 per cent of the labor force.

The accuracy of this calculation and the method used to arrive at it may be challenged, as of course it should be. But its findings are not less valid than those of the present system which have for so long gone unquestioned.

Unjust Reputation

ACCORDING to Wildlife Review, an excellent magazine published by the fish and game branch of the British Columbia recreation and conservation department, our cougars have been maligned.

"They have been tinged with quite an unjust notoriety because of occasional forays into civilization," an article in a recent issue says. "Writers of the more sensational wildlife stories have also done much to bring cougars into disrepute."

The magazine holds that far from being a frighteningly ferocious beast or a marauder, the cougar—probably more numerous in relation to area on Vancouver Island than anywhere else in North America—is timid and secretive. Few people, it says, even in well-established cougar country, have ever seen one unless it has been treed with the aid of hunting dogs. Islanders of long residence will be bound to grant on reflection that this is true; also that while not many people see cougars, the big cats must often watch the human traffic in the woods with no urge to attack.

In a footnote the magazine tells of a cougar kitten brought up as a house pet in the home of a conservation officer, which would leave the room whenever a Western came on television.

Intelligent, too, our cougars.

Elderly Can't Moonlight

DAVID Groos, our member for Victoria, is satisfied that the $18,000 the members are now receiving will be adequate and prevent "moonlighting."

I am glad he is satisfied but how does he think the OAPs can manage to wait for even $10 monthly increase, when so many are unable, through age or infirmity to earn any money, let alone "moonlighting?"

The cost of living is just as high, even more so, for extra nutrition, medicines, etc. For those who have nothing but the pension to have to wait for a small increase, must make Mr. Groos uncomfortable when he recalls his frequent promise that he and his party would work for immediate increase for the OAP. Not a word at that time about the members' salaries being raised, but how they rushed it through regardless. What is a promise worth? Whom can we trust?

Animal Research

Recent protests concerning experiments on the brains of cats at UBC bring before the people of Victoria a problem which has been under consideration in other countries for some years, that is the question of use of animals in research.

Canada and the United States have no laws controlling this research but Britain and a number of other countries have legislation providing at least some measure of control.

However, in the United States last year, extensive hearings on proposed bills were held and

To Rule the Whole

Peking's Goal in Southeast Asia

By EDWARD NEILAN

COMMUNIST China's recent actions and pronouncements indicate that basically the image of Genghis Khan—the Mongol "ruler of all men"—is more attractive to Mao Tse-tung than that of Marx or Lenin.

All over Asia, wherever China's land borders touch, there are pressure points of varying sensitivity. Mao's statement that "political power grows out of the barrel of a gun" is still being put into practice, even though the gun continues to be conventional rather than nuclear.

Communism's so-called "wars of national liberation" continue in Asia as a means of gaining political control. Eventual hegemony of the entire Southeast Asia region appears to be Peking's goal.

The use of force is not new in Asia. In 1948 five Communist wars of terrorism to seize control were under way in Asia in addition to the "civil war" in China itself. They were in Indonesia, Burma, Malaya, the Philippines and what was then French Indochina.

The Communists were defeated in the first four countries, but in Indochina the Reds were left in control of North Viet Nam and two of the northern provinces of Laos. The aggression against the Republic of Korea in 1950 was a more naked use of force as was the Taiwan Straits crisis of 1958. Of present concern are Laos and South Viet Nam and the Chinese Communist pressure along the Indian frontier.

Here is a country-by-country review of the "pressure points" in Asia:

South Korea—Recent North Korean attacks along the Demilitarized Zone have shown that the North Koreans, backed up by Peking, are capable and willing to cause trouble at any time. Continued violations of the truce agreement and provocations provide the best argument for the continuing presence of two American divisions in that unhappy land. Presidential and national assembly elections are being held in Korea in October and November, respectively, and the Communists may try to disrupt them.

Formosa—The Communists can turn up the flame in the Formosa Straits at any time. Since "recovery of Formosa" is a national goal, the Chinese Communists can be expected to continue provocation. Most likely manifestations are renewed shelling of offshore islands Quemoy and Matsu and perhaps even an attempted takeover of one of the smaller islands in the Matsu group.

Hong Kong and Macao—Even in these two supposedly "neutral" cold war locales the Chinese Communist giant only has to sneeze and an impact is felt. Exploitation of water or food deliveries or a sudden turning-on of the refugee flow can have damaging effects on both of these colonies.

Laos—This country is Communist's biggest success story in Southeast Asia. Much of the country is already under effective Pathet Lao control, especially the northeast provinces that are used for infiltration into South Viet Nam. The Communists hope to have Laos completely in their grasp by 1965. The West may be forced into partition to save what is left and thus form a fence to prevent infiltration into Thailand.

South Viet Nam—The world's shoddiest war is going on here. An American buildup of advisers—14,000 at last tally—has given the country new hope in its political-military fight against the Viet Cong guerrillas. This shadowy war could go on for years especially if complicated by disputes like the current Buddhist crisis. These disputes are ready-made for Communist exploitation.

Thailand—Here the Communists are conducting what has been called "aggression by seepage" to prepare the way for a full offensive after the fall of Laos and South Viet Nam. In Thailand's northeast live approximately nine-million people whose culture is much like that of the Laotians. They include a minority of Vietnamese, most of whom are Pathet Lao, North Vietnamese Vietnamese and even a few Red Chinese "agitprop" men have been apprehended attempting to set up cells in the region. The Thai government has responded with a civic action program supported by the United States that has had some success.

Tourist Time

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

ALTHOUGH it's some time since Parliament recessed, Parliament Hill is anything but deserted.

There are so many people here, in fact, that cabinet ministers walk the grounds between Centre and East Blocks in happy anonymity.

They simply are lost in the hordes of tourists, most from so far away they do not recognize the men running this country.

Tourists are counted as they go through the Centre Block and their numbers are setting records again this year as they have for the past three.

More than 600,000 are expected to have passed through during the whole year and much of the credit for luring them here is given to the daily "Changing of the Guard" ceremony on the Parliament Hill lawn.

Two detachments of Canadian Guards in full dress and accompanied by two bands—pipes and drums—march up to the hill for the ceremony and are surrounded daily by crowds whose numbers go as high as 7,000.

The capital's merchants are more than happy with the growing influx and one group has annually closed off three blocks of a main downtown street to make it a mall—a strolling area with flowers, trees, a pool, sidewalk cafes and an art display.

It's all good business and the visitors love it—especially Americans, who appear to have a greater love for things British than do Canadians.

A modest estimate is made that each visitor spends $10 while in Ottawa and to the businessmen here that $5,000,000 is minimum, for not all tourists go to be counted in the Centre Block's isn't peanuts.

Perhaps somebody should suggest that those merchants kick back a bit of the money to the government, which pays to have the guards on display with taxpayers' money.

A New Set of Jobs

Another Nigerian State

By a Special OFNS
Correspondent from Lagos

AT A TIME when most African leaders are talking about unity, the people of Nigeria's middle western area have voted themselves into a separate state. It is to be a new region within the Nigerian Federation—which became independent of Britain and a sovereign member of the Commonwealth in October 1961.

The new Mid-West Region will have a prime minister, a cabinet and a civil service, so in a country (and a continent) where all too little is left over after ministers have been paid, Nigeria will have five prime ministers (one for each region), five governors, and 300-odd senior and junior ministers.

The paradox is explained partly by tribalism, partly by high politics. After spending three days in the region during the referendum it is hard not to be infected by independence fever, which can be as vehement when directed against African matters as against European.

The impetus of the new state came from a genuine independence movement—as bitter as any of the others have been—against what the Obi (king) of Benin called in a campaign speech, "the political slavery of the black man's rule, which has been imposed virtually upon the Mid-West since the whole country became free from the white man's rule over two years ago."

The Obi—Akenzua II of Benin—one of the principal protagonists of "independence" was doubtless oversimplifying. But he was stressing the biggest single factor in the whole episode, the outraged tribal feelings of the 150,000-strong minority groups who had found themselves in a state dominated by over four million Yorubas.

This tribal feeling, exacerbated by the fact that the Mid-West is an economic backwater, ensured that there was little difficulty in rousing enthusiasm among the 325,000 Yorubas, the 500,000 Ibo, etc. One of the more heavily committed newspapers, the West African Pilot declared: "The black box (for the 'no' votes) should be discarded for it represents the carnage, the pillage, the plague of poverty and want, of ignorance and disease; it represents the evils of tyranny, oppression, suppression and psychological depression under which the Mid-Westerns have been groaning."

If these are the emotions to which the populace was expected to respond, another set of motives, equally characteristic of African politics, operated higher up. The new state meant a new set of jobs—from governor and premier down to clerks and office boys. The job motive operated indirectly as well, for the minority groups strongly felt, not altogether without reason, that what jobs were available in Ibadan, the old region's capital, had gone to Yorubas and not to them. Not only jobs, but industries, ports, roads and plantations. All it was felt, went to the Yoruba area.

At a higher level still there was another set of motives. The careful federal balance of Nigeria had, from the 1959 elections that immediately preceded independence, given a clear majority in each region to one party, reflecting the majority of one tribe. The Northern Peoples Congress ruled the Hausa-dominated north, the National Council of Nigerian Citizens ruled the Ibo-dominated east and the Action Group the Yoruba west.

At federal level, the Northern Peoples Congress and the National Council of Nigerian Citizens were in coalition, with the Action Group as opposition. Thus, the prospect of carving up the Action Group's preserve in the west had long had a certain appeal to the parties in office in Lagos, the federal capital.

However, last year, the Action Group fortress in the west crumbled of its own accord: the party split, its federal leader, Awolowo, was jailed on a charge of treasonable felony, and power in the region passed to a coalition consisting of the local National Council of Nigerian Citizens with one faction of the Action Group which turned itself into the United Peoples Party—leaving the Action Group rump in lame opposition. So, the top-level political motive of carving up the Yoruba Empire had disappeared. The empire was already carved up.

But the Mid-West Movement, which had a continuous history of agitation and demagoguery dating back to 1947, had gained too much momentum to be stopped. Whatever second thoughts they may have, no party now dared oppose the Mid-West state. And, in the campaign, hardly a public voice was raised in opposition.

So it was settled. The Mid-West became a new state. What is not settled is whether or not it will be a going concern. The 1968 Minorities Commission, which before the British handed over, listened to various claims and counter-claims, concluded that although the area was not as catastrophically neglected as the Mid-Westerns claimed, it was not viable. Its rubber, timber and palm produce could hardly compensate for the loss of the cocoa revenue, which is the undivided region's main income and which grows, for natural rather than political reasons, in the Yoruba area.

Viability was, not the burning question in the referendum. It will be now.

In Viet Nam

Diem Or Zero

By JOHN STIRLING
from Saigon

THE prospects of a coup d'état in South Viet Nam are being canvassed not only at Saigon's diplomatic cocktail parties, but also in the Gia Long Palace, where President Ngo Dinh Diem, his brother, Mr. Ngo Dinh Nhu, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, live behind heavily-guarded walls. The president himself, in a recent speech to Vietnamese officials, warned that if his regime was overthrown, it would be replaced by something worse which would extinguish the people's elementary liberties. His brother, Mr. Nhu, has said that the conflict with the Buddhists, if not resolved, "will lead to a coup d'état."

The steel-and-concrete skeleton of a new palace, rising from the rubble of the former Independence Palace, is a reminder of previous coups d'état. The Independence Palace was heavily damaged in a bombing attack in February, 1962, by two pilots of the Vietnamese Air Force. Fourteen months earlier, the palace had been besieged for 24 hours by two battalions of rebellious paratroops.

Once again, Saigon is alert for the first shots of another military coup. The Buddhist leaders declare that their campaign against religious discrimination will extend to the armed forces. Some army officers have expressed sympathy with them. The government has taken elaborate security precautions in the city, with barbed wire hurdles lined up along the main boulevards, ready for quick positioning against a hostile force. All is prepared for a coup d'état—except for someone to carry it out.

Despite the long religious crisis, Mr. Diem's position appears to be as strong as ever. The Buddhist leaders say that Mr. Diem is not their main antagonist, but rather "the family"—by which they mean the brothers Ngo Dinh Nhu and Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thue, and Mrs. Nhu. Diem himself still can command the loyalty of the general staff, and of his ministers. He himself believes (and he may well be right) that 80 per cent of the peasants are loyal to him. The Saigon mob he dismisses with contempt. Mr. Diem has already shown a remarkable talent to survive. This is largely due to his personality: which is a compound of self-confidence, verging on fanaticism; courage, great intelligence, and an "everyday" which deprives him of the "common touch" but at the same time makes him immune from charges of corruption.

It is difficult to find a Vietnamese, however cynical and embittered, who will deny that Diem is the most forceful character to have emerged from the political turmoil of the last decade. One of his ministers, when asked, in confidence, how many of Mr. Diem's entourage could replace him, replied: "Zero."

In fact, there is no one in political life, in the administration, or even in the general staff who could adequately replace the stern "father image" of Mr. Diem. The few authentic leaders who survived from the pre-Diem period have vanished into exile, or prison, or otherwise withdrawn from the public view.

Among the many rumors is that the army might overthrow Diem in order to replace him by Mr. Nhu. While the president's brother may have supporters among the military, he would not appeal to the more senior officers, all of whom owe their positions to Diem, and who still accept his personal direction of the war. Mr. Nhu, on the other hand, is an intellectual, not a strategist. He is the ideologue of the regime, the inventor of the official philosophy of "Personalism." He is also known to be passionately anti-American.

The United States, which is pouring about $1 million a day into South Viet Nam, and has stationed 12,000 servicemen there, would never willingly accept Mr. Nhu in the place of his brother. Dissatisfied as Washington is with many aspects of Diem's regime, senior American officials are also aware that "zero" is the alternative to him. One U.S. official in Saigon explained: "Our main job here is to win the war against the Vietcong (Communists) terrorists. If Diem goes, there might be civil war. That could benefit only the Communists."

Thus, by sheer force of personality and political skill, Diem has so far ridden out the political storms. Foreigners who shake their heads pessimistically over his policy towards the Buddhists, his decision to throw 34 political opponents into jail, his insistence that all problems will be solved, forget that the same iron nerve has carried him through the turmoil of 1954, and the subsequent coups d'état.

If self-confidence could preserve a regime, Diem's is virtually indestructible. However, the confidence of others is also necessary—and that, it seems, is slowly but inexorably slipping away. His brother's fear of a coup d'état is a sign of the anxiety which is gnawing at the heart of the regime. No autocracy, however tough, can long resist the virus of self-doubt.

Garden Notes

Fruit Bears Watching

By M. V. CHERNITZ, FRHS

In a mixed garden, fruit probably demands the most of our attention in August, for we have plums, early apples and the very early pears all ripening at the same time. Wall-grown peaches and figs are touchy things too, and must be watched over and protected.

One reason why home-grown fruit tastes so much better than store-bought stuff is because each individual apple or plum is picked just as it reaches its peak of perfection, whereas the commercial grower, using an army of hired pickers, must make a clean sweep of his trees.

Moreover, he has to pick a little on the green side so the fruit won't get battered to mush on its way to market.

be sure the birds and wasps will be right in there pitching, so you have very narrow margin of time in which to pick this delectable fruit at its luscious best.

It is a good idea to protect the most forward of the figs by slipping a little plastic bag over each one, tying the mouth of the bag around the stem with a Twistem—those green plastic tapes used for staking. This sounds like a big job, but actually you need only bag a few figs at a time, selecting only the ones whose skins are turning shiny. The bags need stay on for only a few days, until the skin cracks appear, and are then transferred to the next batch of shiny green fruit.

This idea was sent to me by a reader some years ago and it works like a charm, although for the life of me, I can't figure out why a tinfoil "umbrella" over each wall-grown peach should keep away wasps and birds.

Second early potatoes are about ready for lifting on most plots. Try to pick a sunny but breezy day for the job so the spread will dry off quickly when spread out on the ground, and store under conditions that will ensure cool air, complete darkness, and good ventilation. The cleared ground should be raked over, given a dressing of fertilizer, and put to work immediately either for the planting of winter greens or the sowing of a green manure crops to be turned in later.

Figs must certainly be gathered in this way—a few at a time, just as they ripen—because a fig is almost tasteless if picked too soon. It should be left on the tree until it is ripe enough to show a slight cracking of the skin and a "tear in its eye," a drop of moisture in the orifice. As soon as the cracks appear, you can —in regular succession—once they start to mature.

Peaches need some protection too, but I have not had too much luck with plastic bags on this fruit—mildew forms on the skin when so enclosed. Cheesecloth is better, and I have had very good results by fitting a cone of shiny aluminum foil covering and shielding the upper half of Carrots will appreciate a little extra potash about now, to help their roots color up properly and to swell to maximum size. Sulphate of potash (or muriate of potash if you can't get the sulphate) is a white powder costing around 12 cents per pound. Use it in the watering can, two level tablespoonfuls per gallon and one gallon per yard run.

Sothorn Seeks Slow Slim

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Ann Sothorn will have a session at the famed Birch-Benner sanatorium in Switzerland. The idea being to lose weight slowly and scientifically. Anything faster is out, because of Ann's long siege of hepatitis about 10 years ago.

Henry Ford II will be looking about 100 in-laws if and when he follows his marriage separation with a divorce. Mrs. Ford is one of 14 children.

Lard Astor has been featured as the loser of the week at the Losers, a Hollywood night club. Other losers included Eddie Fisher, Richard Nixon and Floyd Patterson.

Danny Kaye promised to be in the audience when Lord of the Flies was premiered in New York. Danny and the author, William Golding, are good friends.

Did Joe Lovine buy Henry Miller's unfilmable Tropic of Cancer? The sex-ridden story is the number one best seller in England along with the Hindu love-making saga, Kama Sutra.

John Mills, the restaurateur, the father of Hayley Mills, stars in London in Mr. Mayor. If successful, he brings it to Broadway.

George Chakiras saves the stamps from the 2,000 fan outpourings he receives a month. He sends them to shut-ins.

Fabian will be the size of a pin in a two-hour TV segment on ABC-TV this fall, in Outer Limits. It's part of the plot; he has to go through a keyhole. A good idea for columnists. When last heard from, Fabe was dating redhead Quinn O'Hara.

Alfred Delage's wife admonished her children, "Don't keep looking at that dreadful western on television." A long pause, then, "But you're in it" she was told. Mary was an actress before she became the producer's wife.

Oscar Homolka says he loves to watch his old films on TV. "I was so young then," he sighs.

My daughter saw the revival of Streetcar Named Desire, and couldn't get over "How young Marlon Brando looked."

I hope someone will advise Jayne Mansfield to drop her idea of playing Cleopatra in the film, Anthony and Cleopatra. One is obviously enough.

It seems that Frank Sinatra has washed his hands of the White House, as they have of him. Which makes everything nice and even. I'm told there were tears in Frankie's eyes when he attended Frankie Junior's opening at the Flamingo—in the lounge, not the main room. You have to work up to that. Junior seems like a nice, unspoiled kid.

A Los Angeles weekly sheet printed something about a 20-year-old son of Walter Wanger being in trouble with some cheques. But I am sure that Wanger does not have a 20-year-old son. His 20-year-old daughter is about to become the bride of millionaire Freddie Luenz, and I can hardly see how Walter could have fathered a son in the same year. Possible. But not probable.

John Casavetes went to London to discuss his next movie. It is about the atom bomb we seem to be having a cycle — but the title sounds misleading. Of all things, this new smashing up of our world is called, "Love."

CHARLES McDOWELL, Jr., Discovers

If in Doubt, Carborate

Admittedly this is not an ideal time to bring up a small problem, big ones being all the fashion these days, but we can suppress this small problem no longer.

We will accept an answer from Ann Landers, Barry Goldwater or anyone else who specializes in brisk, clear-cut answers to difficult questions.

The problem is one of etiquette: what is the correct thing to do with those little packages that the sugar comes in at public eating places?

We know how to tear the corner off and drop the sugar into our coffee or tea or what-ever it is. That part is fairly obvious. But now how do we dispose of the paper?

If a diner orders several cups of coffee or likes a lot of sugar in his tea, he acquires a considerable pile of trash paper. Should he put it on his bread-and-butter plate? In his saucer? In the ashtray? In his pocket?

The problem arises frequently as more and more public eating places, including some that are rather fancy, substitute sugar in packages for the traditional bowl of loose sugar with its sometimes crusty spoon.

For our part, we probably could get through life improvising ways to dispose of the packages and not feel unbearably boorish about it. But some people do like to know what is the correct procedure in such matters, and for their sake the experts should speak up.

We used to put sugar packages in the ash tray. Eating alone one day in a large hotel dining room, we managed somehow to get them all with a lighted cigarette. It was a splendid little fire and it got rid of the packages, but you know how it is when you eat alone in a crowded dining room—you get the feeling everyone is watching you.

Subsequently we tried putting them on our bread-and-butter plate, but this proved less than satisfactory on several occasions. The packages tended to become involved with the butter.

Nor is the saucer an ideal place of disposal. The package almost always gets damp, sticks to the bottom of the coffee cup and makes a spectacle of itself.

Eating breakfast on the train recently, with a stranger seated opposite, we leaned two empty (or almost empty) packages against the far edge of our plate. The stranger folded his newspaper suddenly, creating a draft that blew them into our scrambled eggs. This was embarrassing for the stranger and for us, and it didn't help the eggs.

Japan's Elvis Zips Through Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bring a young Japanese singing sensation to Hollywood and what does he want to see?

Disneyland, Elvis Presley and Audrey Hepburn, in that order.

The singer is Kyu Sakamoto, whose record of Sukiyaki has been a phenomenon of the music business. Although sung in Japanese, it has managed to sell an amazing 930,000 copies in the U.S.

This prompted Capitol Records to bring Kyu to Hollywood for a whirlwind trip. In three days it included a riotous greeting by his fans at Los Angeles International Airport, appearances on two Steve Allen television shows, a cocktail reception, disc jockey interviews, visits with the mayor of Los Angeles to plug the Tokyo Olympics and the mayor of Nagoya, Los Angeles' sister city.

Elvis and Audrey were tied up on movie sets. But Kyu's

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and soothes the area, making it less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Tax Solution

Dual Marts for U.S.

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The New York and American stock exchanges announced Tuesday they were setting up a dual type of market for foreign securities in preparation for the proposed new U.S. 15 per cent interest equalization tax.

The first market will be in respect of foreign securities owned by U.S. residents. This market will be generally "broad and active," say the exchanges, and the shares may be passed into other hands without the imposition of the 15 per cent tax.

The other market, will be for foreign securities owned by non-residents of the U.S. These shares can be transferred without tax only to other non-residents of the U.S.

NARROW MARKET
The New York and American stock exchanges say the latter market will be narrow and "illiquid" and that the prices will not be so good as those available in the other market.

The exchanges state that brokers should inform their clients of this situation whenever they wish to sell non-U.S. securities in the New York market.

BY-PASSING NEW YORK

Canadians most likely to be affected by this new order, provided Congress passes the 15 per cent tax, are those holding European or Asian securities for which the only North American market is in New York.

A local broker pointed out that it would be extremely unlikely for a holder of a Canadian security to attempt to sell his stock on the New York stock exchange when similar facilities exist on various Canadian stock exchanges.

SOME RELIEF SEEN

While the New York and American stock exchanges were busy explaining their plans, U.S. Treasurer Dillon was telling Congress he would be willing to work with a ways and means committee in devising a formula that would exempt from the interest equalization tax those existing issues of stock of Canadian-based operations that are largely U.S. owned.

GOOD NEWS

The Montreal and Toronto stock exchanges during Tuesday's session quickly pounced upon Mr. Dillon's remark as "good news" and the shares of Canadian companies predominantly U.S. owned, such as Imperial Oil, Aluminum Ltd., International Nickel of Canada and Pacific Petroleum quickly moved ahead.

It would be wrong to assume that the concessions now being considered by Mr. Dillon will clear security trading restrictions between Canada and the U.S. but it will be another step in that direction.

ESSENTIALLY AMERICAN

Mr. Dillon made it quite clear that there would be no exemption of the 15 per cent tax on outstanding foreign securities, but that Canadian companies such as Aluminum

St. Louis Cardinals marched into Los Angeles seven weeks ago last night as an unexpected National League leader and left after losing three straight games, two by shutouts, in second place.

Last night, they came back in second place, trailing by five and a half games and with perhaps their last chance to make a pennant run. They can still win the three-game series but now their gain can be no more than one game.

GETTING BIG

The Dodgers, apparently fully out of their early-August slump, drove six and a half games in front with a 7-5 win, set up by a five-run fourth inning.

San Francisco's Giants, continuing to have pitching troubles and hitting only spasmodically, stayed a game behind the Cardinals by losing to Milwaukee's surging Braves, 6-1.

Philadelphia Phillies, making a hopeful late run, had their win streak snapped at eight games when rookie Grover Powell pitched New York Mets to a 4-0 win in the first game of a doubleheader. The Phils came back to take the second, 2-1, but had to go 12 innings to make it.

New York Yankees, fresh from three straight wins over the second-place Chicago White Sox, were brought up short as Dick Donovan pitched Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 win, beating Whitey Ford in search of his 18th win.

The White Sox gained back a game they lost by pinning a 10-2 defeat on Boston Red Sox behind effective pitching by Juan Pizarro.

Swedes Are First In Starting Trend

NEW YORK — Sweden's Ulf Sterner, considered the best hockey player in Europe, has agreed to report to New York Rangers, and officials called the decision merely the first step in an inevitable influx of European players to the National Hockey League.

"I foresee a lot of Europeans trying out for the NHL in the near future," said general manager Muzz Patrick of New York. "Sweden has made tremendous strides in hockey recently. So have Norway, Finland, Switzerland and West Germany."

"They are catching up to Canada in developing good, young hockey players. Especially since professional coaches from North America are going overseas to teach them the fine points of the game—men like Bill Dobbey, Eddie Reigle and Vic Hylander."

Sterner, a 20-year-old centre and defenceman, was a key man in Sweden's victory in the 1962 and 1963 world amateur championships. He is considered the big catch in Europe, but Toronto Maple Leafs have also invited a couple of Swedish players to try out.

Coach Punch Imlach says Leafs will "take a good look" at Kjell Svensson, a goaltender, and Carl Oberg, a left winger.

"It's time we started taking a serious look at these European players who are beginning to dominate amateur hockey," he said.

Patrick gave another reason for the interest in Europeans.

"We have a problem developing American youngsters because a lot of them are drafted into military service just when they might be ready or interested in playing pro hockey," he said.

Junior Rocks Open with Win But Seniors Drop Behind, 1-2

Next Try Tonight

NEW WESTMINSTER—The start was much better but the outcome all too familiar for Victoria Shamrocks here last night as New Westminster romped to a 15-8 victory and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League semi-final.

With only seven minutes gone, Shamro

Ottawa Backs Skopje 'Quake Aid Duty-Free

OTTAWA (CP)—Donations and relief assistance for individuals and institutions in the earthquake-stricken city of Skopje will be admitted to Yugoslavia free of customs duty, the Yugoslav embassy here said Tuesday.

Veteran Has Less Leg, More Money

LONDON (Reuters)—A First World War veteran has received £584 ($1,732) in pension arrears because of a slight error when experts measured the stump of the leg he lost in 1918. It was disclosed Tuesday.

The experts decided that since the amputation was "below the middle thigh" the veteran was entitled to a 60-per cent pension. For 44 years he drew the pension. Then, after he had a medical examination for something else, it inexplicably rose to 70 per cent.

He took his problem to the British Legion, the veterans' organization. The legion, which told the story Tuesday, established that because the amputation was through the middle thigh—not below—the man should have received the 70-per cent pension from the beginning.

New School Torn Down

NEW YORK (AP)—A nearly completed $2,000,000 city school was ordered torn down Monday after tests showed it was being built with concrete 40 per cent below the required strength. The board of education ordered demolition of the school in Coney Island, Brooklyn.

Saanich Woman Attacked In Home

A Saanich housewife placed an emergency call for help Monday night just as an assailant broke into her bedroom and struck her unconscious with the telephone receiver.

Mrs. William Sendall, 1592 Sonria, was sitting in her living room watching television and knitting when a man walked in the door and tried to kiss her.

BROKE FREE

Mrs. Sendall struggled with the intruder, broke free, and ran to her bedroom where there is an extension telephone.

She just managed to dial the operator and shout "call the police" before the man grabbed her, knocked her unconscious with the telephone during the ensuing struggle, and ran from the house.

Her husband, who was working the late shift for the B.C. Telephone Company, answered the emergency call.

TRACED NUMBER

He traced the number and when he found it was his own called a neighbor who ran next door and found the woman lying unconscious in her bedroom.

She suffered only a bad fright and a bump on her head.

WAKE CHILDREN

She said she did not scream during the attack because she was afraid she might wake her children and that the attacker might harm them.

She described the man as about 25 years old, five feet eight inches tall and about 170 pounds. She said he had a dark, dirty complexion and was in a generally filthy condition.

Youth Group Helps Hospital

A Victoria youth group which wants to help others raised $150 this summer toward the St. Joseph Hospital development fund.

Henry Landry, 18, president of the Demers Catholic Youth Organization, said Tuesday "we hope we can hand the cheque over to hospital authorities some time this week."

Among 20 patients moved Tuesday to new wing of Jubilee Hospital, in background, was Mrs. Clyde Herrington, pushed in a wheelchair by nurse Rae Malcolm. (Ryan Bros.)

Jubilee

Patient Shift Begins

Royal Jubilee Hospital officials Tuesday started the move of patients from the old building into the new five-storey wing.

First patient transferred to the modern, multi-million-dollar wing was Mrs. C. H. Auckland, 912 Heywood.

She was one of 20 patients moved yesterday. Another 30 patients will be moved Thursday and 70 more next week.

Numerous other changes still have to be made.

SURGERY SPACE

Surgery space on the top floor will be in use by mid-September. X-ray machines will be ready about a week later and the Victoria Cancer Clinic will settle into its new home in mid-October.

After that workmen will start renovating the older sections of the hospital.

Pat Bay Highway

Green Belt Planned

The provincial highways department has decided to set aside some of its land along the Patricia Bay Highway for development of park strips to preserve the area's natural beauty, it was learned Tuesday.

The major policy decision by the highways department was seen by Capital Region Planning Board director Anthony Robert as a vital step towards creation of park strips from Swartz Bay through to Goldstream Park.

IN SO MANY

"The board hopes this region can be saved from a Gasoline Alley (highway commercial) entrance which is found in so many North American cities today," he said.

"If we don't watch it, our very fragile 20 miles from Swartz Bay to Victoria could be one messy Kingsway (referring to highly commercialized Kingsway between Vancouver and Burnaby)," he said.

NEW BYPASS

The Capital Region Planning Board recently asked Highways Minister Gagliardi for his support of the park strip principle, and in particular, urged a start of the parkway treatment be made at the newly-built airport bypass.

The board received the backing of Victoria, Saanich, Oak

Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich Councils, the Sidney village commission and the Victoria branch of the B.C. Automobile Association.

Announcement of the highways department decision came to the CRPB in a letter from deputy highways minister H. T. Miard.

The letter said there were considerable areas of surplus land along the Patricia Bay Highway—near the airport bypass and near McDonald Park north of Sidney—from which the department was willing to retain park strips, Mr. Robert said.

ALSO WILLING

The highways department was also willing to accept any additional land which is given and dedicated for park strip purposes, and to look after its development.

The department was not ready at this time, however, to buy extra land for this purpose.

"The board was pleased the minister accepted the principle that entrances to the region should be treated as parkways, and felt retaining of its land for park strips is an important step toward the objective of full parkway treatment," said Mr. Robert.

NO DESIGN

No detailed design for the parkway development has been worked out, but it is believed that in some places the land would be left in its natural state, and would be improved in other places, and picnic tables might be placed at intervals along the highway.

The Capital Improvement District Commission recently acquired strips of land for park preservation bordering the highway between Goldstream Park and Thetis Lake.

SWOLLEN HAND

The other girl, Katherine Fleming, 11, of 163 Olive, who was bitten Friday but received no medical treatment, suffered a painfully swollen hand, ran a temperature and felt drowsy after the attack, it was reported.

The Malone girl said she had just started to come out of the water when she put her hand on a log on one side of the float and was bitten by a snake about 18 inches long, with a yellow-green stripe down its back and black stripes on its sides.

The snake then slithered into the water and swam away, she said. Two red puncture marks, about an eighth of an inch apart, were found on the girl's hand.

Miss Fleming did not see the snake and was not aware of how she had injured her hand until a day later, when two small puncture marks appeared on her swollen hand.

Handed the key to open the building's front door, a broadly smiling premier said he wanted to be sure "I have the proper key to open this door."

Then, in apparent reference to the court battle over B.C. Hydro ownership which has raged during his absence, Mr. Bennett added, amid laughter, "I can assure you that all other doors will be opened in due course."

He said he would "resist the temptation" to go further into the matter at this particular time.

HIGHEST EXPRESSION

Senora Mateos said murals have become one of the "highest expressions" of the arts that have flourished since the 1910 revolution in Mexico.

She paid tribute to Mr. Salgo, a Mexican by adoption, as "one of the most Mexican of Mexican artists" who has been able to "express the soul and color" of the country in his work.

The artist, who was present, said he was deeply touched. "The presence of Mexico's distinguished first lady makes this the most important moment in my 35-year career as a muralist and painter," said Mr. Salgo.

FIRST MOVE

He added: "This is the first move in a cultural exchange between Canada and Mexico. I sincerely hope to have the honor of creating similar historical murals in other provinces."

Bids Sought Soon

Car Towaways Planned in City

By IAN STREET

The city will advertise in the next few days for tenders on a towaway service for cars illegally parked on Victoria streets during rush hours.

The service would cover 26 zones in the downtown area and on major traffic routes leading out of the city during the 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. period.

Tenders will be opened by city council at its next meeting, scheduled for Sept. 5.

STUDY EXPECTED

It is expected, however, prices quoted by bidders will be sent to the traffic committee for further study before a final decision is made by council.

The proposed towaway service arose during discussions of further measures designed to speed the flow of homeward-bound traffic.

FINES DOUBLED

Already in effect is the doubling of fines to $5 for cars parked illegally in curb lanes that must be cleared during the rush hour.

Once before, in 1958, the city called for similar tenders. On that occasion it received two bids, neither of which was judged satisfactory.

VANCOUVER BID?

This time, however, there are indications at least one Vancouver towing firm is interested in submitting a bid.

The tow trucks will have to be radio-equipped so they can be dispatched to any point in the area to be covered by an impending bylaw.

FOUR SERVICES

Prices must be quoted for four services: Towing from any downtown location; towing from areas outside the half-mile circle; for nominal storage in a convenient downtown location, and additional storage exceeding 12 hours.

In Vancouver the basic charge for towing is $5 with a fee of $1 a day for storage up to three days and $2 each day thereafter.

70-Mile Probe Criticized

An order by Highways Minister Gagliardi for a survey of B.C.'s highways to see if portions are capable of 70 miles per hour speed limits drew criticism Tuesday from Saanich police chief W. A. Pearson.

"By experience, 80 per cent of the people on the road today are not mentally and physically capable of driving at 70 miles an hour," he said. "There just isn't room for manoeuvring in case of emergency."

Colonist Cave Trek

Bats But No Bears

By DON GAIN

Bats and beetles, spiders and speleothems will add a lively note to The Daily Colonist-sponsored expedition to Barkley Sound area caves, director David Dunnet said last night.

The eight-man speleological party leaves Thursday on its troglodytic trek to the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Coming from Seattle is co-director Dr. William Halliday, veteran speleologist and writer on the subject. The party will fly to the cave sites from Port Alberni.

As reporter for the expedition I asked David Dunnet for a rough idea of what we would encounter in the caves.

"They will be limestone caves," Mr. Dunnet said, "and they will not be as large as the great American and European caves."

"One member of the party is taking us to a cave hidden in dense brush. It is almost inaccessible and we believe it has not been entered since 1927, when he was there."

"At that time there was a subterranean stream running at right angles to the cave entrance."

"There might be several species of bats, and cave beetles, and probably cave crickets which are usually translucent white with extremely long antennae."

"There will be clusters of daddy-long-legs spiders or harvest men as some people call them."

WE'RE EXPECTING

"We're expecting to find stalactites and stalagmites. Another name for them is speleothems. They are the icicle-like deposits of calcium carbonate which grow down from a cave ceiling and up from its floor."

"I don't think we'll find any bears," he said. "They prefer smaller places and they're not hibernating now anyway."

Building Rite Welds Canada-Mexico Amity

An impressive array of dignitaries, both local and foreign, participated in Tuesday's opening ceremonies for the new Montreal Trust building on Fort Street.

Premier Bennett, just back from Britain, officially opened the building by unlocking the front door before a crowd of some 100 spectators.

The wife of Mexico's president, Senora Dona Eva Samano

de Lopez Mateos, made a short speech before unveiling a plaque commemorating the work of her countryman, muralist Andres Salgo.

She was introduced by Lt.-Gov. George Pearkes, host to Senora Mateos during her Victoria stay which ends Thursday. The president's wife came to B.C. to open the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver last weekend.

Premier Bennett said the visit of Senora Mateos would further cement the friendship between Canada and Mexico.

Handed the key to open the building's front door, a broadly smiling premier said he wanted to be sure "I have the proper key to open this door."

Then, in apparent reference to the court battle over B.C. Hydro ownership which has raged during his absence, Mr. Bennett added, amid laughter, "I can assure you that all other doors will be opened in due course."

No More Swimming

Scummy, Soupy Algae Turns Glen Lake Green

Residents of the Glen Lake area, some 12 miles northwest of Victoria, are wondering if they should change the name to Green Lake—the small body of water is filled with scummy, green algae.

Several persons there said yesterday that the water is so soupy that people have stopped swimming in the lake. One man said his son put some of "the dirty stuff" from the lake under a microscope and saw hundreds of things wriggling around.

One oldtimer, Marcel Bouvour, 3163 Glen Lake Road, who has lived there for the past 15 years, said he has never seen the lake in worse condition than it is now.

The water used to be clear and people swam in it. There was some algae in the lake last fall and it is worse now, he said.

"I pump water from the lake for my garden but yesterday my pump was stuck. I guess it is plugged with the stuff from the lake," Mr. Bouvour said.

Inspecting HMCS Naden band at HMC Dockyard is visiting Group Capt. R. C. Weston, recently-appointed air officer commanding 5 Air Division. Hurricane pilot in the Second World War, he will become senior air officer Pacific when Victoria division is disbanded next January. Bandmaster Lt. Tudor Jones accompanies him.

Lab Ship Start Sept. 4

Construction of the first ship ever designed in Canada specifically for marine physical research will begin Sept. 4 at 4 p.m. with the laying of the keel at Yarrows Ltd. by Mrs. F. H. Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders' husband, superintendent of the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, helped develop the project.

DUE IN 1964

Yarrows general manager John Wallace said last night the vessel is scheduled to be completed in November, 1964. The $4,518,000 ship, designated as AGH 171, will have a top speed of 16 knots and a cruising range of 10,000 miles at 12 knots, and will be equipped with a helicopter platform.

A hydraulic anti-roll system and a fixed built-in bow bulge to inhibit pitching will provide a steady platform for scientific instruments.

Grandparents At Wedding

FULFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jebson have returned after spending a weekend at Cloverdale where they were guests of honor at the wedding of their granddaughter, Miss Janet Marie Giles, and Mr. Leo Grolings. The small ringbearer at the wedding was their grandson, John Craig.

Mr. Walter Few of Fulford was also a guest at the wedding. Returning to Fulford with Mr. and Mrs. Jebson was their daughter, Mrs. W. D. Craig, who will spend the next 10 days or so with her parents. Also visiting the Jebsons is a young friend, Gary Stevenson of Cloverdale.

AMY

By Harry Mace

"You keep an eye on him while I go get my mother's hair dryer."

The large Thunderbird murals, which were designed by Mr. Andres Salgo, covering the back wall of the new Montreal Trust Building on Fort Street, formed an interesting backdrop for these distinguished guests as they left the handsome building following the official opening Tuesday afternoon by Premier W. A. C. Bennett. From left to right: Mrs. Pearkes, wife of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes; Her Excellency Senora Eva Samano

Mother Designs Wedding Gown

Baskets of pink and white gladioli and pink carnations decorated Belmont Avenue United Church Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Sigril

Anne Vennberg and Mr. Glenn Darryl Hundleby, Rev. Dr. D. B. Sparling officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Vennberg, 435 Simeco Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hundleby, 1520 Melroe Avenue.

The bride, who walked to the altar with her father, was lovely in an exquisite gown of silk brocade shantung, designed by her mother. Cut in wide tapering panels the gown's full train cascaded from the waist which was accented by a large bustle bow. Dainty scallops enhanced the three-quarter length sleeves and wide neckline. A rhinestone tiara held her waist-length veil and her only jewelry was an heirloom pearl necklace belonging to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. W. F. Emery. Pink-Baptiste roses and white stephanotis were in her cascade bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. W. Davis, the bride's sister, and bridesmaids, Miss Pat Hundleby, sister of the groom, and Miss Diane Wiper, were gownned alike in vivid pink silk organza over taffeta. Wide satin cummerbunds, extending into short trains in back, accented the slim skirted gowns. Their page-wire netting headpieces were held in place by flower clusters. They carried cascade bouquets of pink ruffled variegated gladioli.

Mr. Gary Webb was best man and Mr. Einar Vennberg and Mr. Hubert Williston acted as ushers.

Bride-to-Be Honor Guest

Miss Carole Mae Bateman was honored at a miscellaneous shower, when Miss Lynore Blake was hostess at her home on Kathleen Street, to co-workers of the Hudson Bay Company.

Miss Bateman was presented with a pink carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. S. J. Bateman and Mrs. H. C. Bradshaw, mother of the groom-to-be, were presented with red and white gladioli bouquets.

Guests were Mrs. L. Smith, Mrs. G. Page, Mrs. J. Robertson, Mrs. N. Hay, Mrs. Bambrugh, Mrs. I. Boyd, Mrs. N. Mason, Mrs. C. Foster, Mrs. R. Blake, and the Misses Betty Barton, Faye Schickelowsky, Adrienne Stack, E. Young, Susan Stiles, Judy Diment, and Anne Macham.

table flanked by tall stands of flowers.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore., the new Mrs. Hundleby wore a rose wool crepe suit with floral pillbox hat and white accessories. A pale mauve orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. Hundleby will reside in Ocean Falls where they have both accepted teaching positions. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Hundleby and family, North Vancouver; Rev. and Mrs. J. Kerly, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Keil, Vancouver; Mrs. Doris Fletcher, Hollywood, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Davis, Royston; Miss Joan Livesey, Vancouver.

Hand-Woven Lace On Bridal Gown

Nuptial mass was celebrated in St. Andrew's Cathedral following the ceremony in which Helen Anne Caldwell was united in marriage with Wilfred John McInerney.

Rev. Father Bernard Handley officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Caldwell, 3033 Fifth Street, and the son of Mrs. William McInerney, Victoria State, Australia, and the late Mr. McInerney.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk taffeta fashioned with back fullness and tiny fabric bows down the back of the skirt which fell into a slight train. The fitted bodice had a sweetheart neckline embroidered with hand-woven Alencon lace. A circular crown of crystal, rhinestones and pearls held her chapel veil edged in hand-embroidered Swiss lace. Her bouquet was of white feathered carnations and pink roses.

Mr. Caldwell gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Kathleen Caldwell was maid of honor and Miss Patricia Caldwell, bridesmaid.

They wore ballerina-length dresses of white lace over pink taffeta styled with scoop necklines and short sleeves. A pink rose mounted on pink net formed their headresses and they carried colonial bouquets of carnations and gladioli centred with sweetheart roses.

Mr. David Molin was best man and Mr. Michael Farrell and Mr. Colin Fleck were ushers.

The reception was held at the Dominion Hotel where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake surrounded by sweetheart roses, gypsophila and lighted tapers.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver the new Mrs. McInerney wore a yellow sheath with lace top, yellow wool topcoat styled with mandarin collar and beige and brown accessories.

The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hinderson, came from Winnipeg for the wedding.

PUFF

Growing feet take comfort from the bouncy bubble-rubber midsoles. Yet there's plenty of running-scuffing-hopping wear in every pair—and soft leather outsoles won't mark floors. Soles are welded to uppers; can't come loose. Foamtreads come in colours children love—and you will too—because when they're soiled your washer makes 'em bright and new again. Priced at $2.98 and $3.98.

Monday Popular Day

For Robbing Banks

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Monday is a favorite day for robbers in the United States. Friday is almost as popular.

Generally, the most popular hour for robbing a bank falls between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Chances are the robber may be wearing dark glasses.

He could be a hardened criminal or a nervous amateur.

FULL OF LIQUID

His weapon probably will be a revolver, but it could be a glass full of a liquid that the robber says is acid to burn the face of a bank teller who might resist.

Whatever his method, he's busier now than ever, for U.S.

banks today are being held up at a rate that outdoes anything in history.

The 19th century exploits of

Jesse James and his gang, and the John Dillinger-Alvin Karpis-

Pretty Boy Floyd holdups of the 1930s—while more spectacular

—don't begin to add up to the number of banks being knocked over in the 1960s.

MOST VICIOUS

An official report from Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation dis-closes:

"Armed assaults upon banking institutions are among the most vicious and demoralizing crimes facing our nation today.

"During the 1962 calendar year, 1,250 banking establishments across the United States were the victims of armed robberies, stealthy burglars and larcenous thieves.

"This total, a record high,

exceeded the 1961 total by over 30 per cent. During the last year, there were 678 robberies,

352 burglaries and 220 larcenies reported to the FBI as violations of the federal bank robbery and incidental crimes statute. There were 471 convictions, and recoveries amounted to $1,120,702."

FBI MEETS BANKERS

The FBI has held a series of bank robbery conferences across the country which were attended by thousands of people from banks and other financial institutions that might be hit by robbers.

In these gatherings FBI

agents and other lawmen exchanged ideas with the banking people—how to prevent robberies—and if they happen anyhow—how to catch the thieves.

The special FBI agent in charge of the Washington field office, Allen Gillies, says the number of criminals involved in a modern bank robbery is seldom higher than three. Most often, there is just one.

One amateur arrested in the act was carrying a list of savings and loan institutions—prospective victims—he had copied from the yellow pages of the telephone book.

The robber, sometimes after standing patiently in line, will get to a teller's booth and make his demand either orally or by means of a note he shoves through the cage window.

NOTES VARY

The words vary. One note

may simply declare in a rough scrawl: "This is a holdup. Give me all your money."

U.S. Soldier Killed By U.S. Soldiers

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A UN command spokesman said Tuesday American soldiers on patrol in central Korea fired on each other by mistake in the darkness Monday. One was killed and another wounded.

Strait Collision

Death Caused By Lifebelt

Observing a safety measure may have cost a fisherman his life when his skiff collided with an ocean-going freighter in the Strait of Juan de Fuca Tuesday.

Witnesses to the accident, which took place close to five miles south of Carmanah Point, said the dead man was wearing a life jacket when he jumped clear of the skiff after it was sidwiped by the steamer.

He was apparently caught by the ship's propeller and lost a leg. His partner was apparently not wearing a lifebelt and sank out of range of the propeller, coming to the surface again after the ship passed.

The dead man was identified by police as Asbjorn Brattli, 10873-130th Street, North Surrey. His partner, who suffered shock from the dive into icy waters and the ordeal of the crash, was identified as Raymond Bak, 2725 West 31st Avenue, Vancouver.

Both men were members of the crew of the Nelson Bros.-owned seine boat Western Girl.

VANCOUVER-BOUND

The freighter involved was the Horace Luckenbach owned by Luckenbach Steamship Company of New York. She was bound for Vancouver.

The two men were loaded aboard a fishing skiff and transferred to the fisheries patrol vessel Howay. Brattli was believed to have been dead before the transfer took place.

The accident took place around 10 a.m.

MEDICAL TEAM

After making the pickup, the Howay sped to Port Renfrew where she was met by a medical team aboard an RCAF search and rescue service Albatross from Vancouver. Bak was loaded aboard and returned to Vancouver where he declared he was all right. Later he reported to RCAF he was going to a doctor for a checkup.

Unusual Triplets Delivered

HOUSTON (UPI)—Doctors at Hermann Hospital Tuesday reported a rare birth of triplets in which two of the babies were normal and the third premature. The parents are Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Holliday.

A doctor who delivered the two girls and a boy said the girls were identical twins from one egg and the boy was from a second egg. He said it was possible a sperm had passed the twins, located low in the mother's womb, and became implanted higher in another egg.

Duncan Cases

Youth Faces New Charges

DUNCAN—Two new charges have been laid against a 17-year-old Duncan boy already charged with manslaughter following the sudden death of 14-year-old Hugh George Nesbitt of Maple Bay.

And charges were also laid against a second boy, out of the same circumstances.

The Nesbitt boy died of as-yet-undisclosed injuries near his Bazett Road home at the intersection of Maple Bay and Genoa Bay Roads on the evening of Aug. 8.

He was returning from a walk to the bay with a 16-year-old friend, Conrad P. Wohlers, also of Bazett Road, when a car with two boys and two girls stopped and the boys ran after Nesbitt and Wohlers.

After the car left the scene, Wohlers found Nesbitt dying at the side of Maple Bay Road. One of the occupants in the car, shortly after, was identified and charged with manslaughter.

Yesterday, in Duncan juvenile court, the Duncan youth heard the two other charges—supplying liquor to two underage girls and possession of liquor.

No plea was taken, on any of the three charges and he was remanded until Monday.

David Richard Bossons, 18, of Duncan, was remanded without plea until Sept. 6 on three charges—threatening Conrad P. Wohlers to apply force to his body and thereby committing common assault; supplying liquor to two minor girls; and being a minor in possession of liquor.

Boy Injured

Brian Robert Sutton, 4, of 1145 Burdett, suffered a severe laceration to his right big toe, and facial abrasions when he was struck by a bicycle near his home Tuesday. He was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Huge Jelly 'Thing' Cavorts in Ocean

SANDY HOOK, N.J. (AP)—A "thing" described as a 40-foot-long hunk of jelly—is reported cavorting in the Atlantic.

It undulated near the surface in a manner resembling legendary sea serpents, says Dr. Lionel Walford, director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Research Centre here.

"But please be careful not to call it a sea serpent," says Walford, who saw the creature. "It is an invertebrate," he added. "It looks like so much jelly. I could see no bones, and no eyes, nose or mouth. But there it was, undulating along looking as if it were almost made of fluid glass."

The "thing" was sighted 25 miles southeast of Times Square off Sandy Hook.

40 FEET

"It was at least 40 feet in length, and about five inches thick and perhaps 7 to 8 inches deep—looking something like an enormously long flattened eel," said Walford.

The "thing" was sighted from a research vessel as scientists were lowering two frogmen in a shark-proof iron "bird cage" to make oceanographic studies. Sharks are common in the area.

500 French Teachers Coming Here

A group of 500 French language teachers who are holding their annual convention in Vancouver will visit Victoria Thursday to hear a speech by Romeo Paquette of Victoria, president of the French-Canadian Federation of B.C.

Mr. Paquette will be speaking to members of the Canadian Association of French Language Teachers. The speech will be given during a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel.

LONDON (UPI) — When Australian visitor John Moffatt threw a dart in the King's Head pub last night, he missed the board and hit a light bulb instead.

All the lights in the pub shorted out.

Newton's dog Bilko bit his master in the leg.

Bartender Daryl Hodge grabbed his hand on a glass in the darkness.

Russia
Tells China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union told Communist China Tuesday to forget about trying to become a nuclear power and devote its energies toward economic development.

The advice was contained in a vitriolic, 2,000-word statement published by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, which Tass described as "an evaluation" of the Communist Chinese charge last Thursday that Moscow had reneged on a pledge to give nuclear arms to Peking.

NO DENIAL

Tass did not specifically deny or confirm the charge. It said that China was annoyed with "a policy of the Soviet Union and other socialist states of not spreading nuclear weapons."

"The nuclear might of the Soviet Union reliably stands guard over the interests of the peoples fighting for social and national liberation," Tass said.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia insisted Tuesday even unarmed foreign military bases must be eliminated in the first stage of disarmament.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that whatever the legal basis might be, bases reserved for foreign use must be dismantled, even though there might be no troops in them.

Tsarapkin also said Russia is opposed to exchange of static observation posts between East and West unless this control is accompanied by disarmament measures.

NOT SPRINGFIELD, S.D. (CP) — This community's police chief was fired Tuesday for placing a hidden microphone in the city council chamber.

Mayor Chuck McClellan, who fired Chief Charles Fleishman, 56, and Patrolman Frank Miller, 41, said "an outside source" tipped him the two wanted to tape an expected council discussion of a pay increase for Miller. But the meeting didn't discuss it.

Drilling Continues

Third Miner
Still Alive

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — A third missing miner, who hadn't been heard from in nearly 40 hours, made contact Tuesday night with the other two who have been separated from him by debris 331 feet underground since a cave-in eight days ago. He was reported alive but in weak condition.

David Fellin, one of the trapped miners who has been communicating with authorities through a microphone lowered down a six-inch hole, reported that he shouted the name of the third missing man, Louis Bova, 42, and heard Bova call back.

Fellin said he talked to Bova twice but could not determine what he said. He said Bova is weak and "I told him don't waste your energy." Fellin said Bova rapped twice.

Another miner with Fellin, Henry Thorne, is communicating with the surface through a similar six-inch shaft.

Near it rescue workers kept at the tedious job of drilling an escape hole through hard rock 331 feet down to Fellin, 58, and Thorne, 28.

Fellin earlier had told his weeping wife, Anna, "I'm all right, but cold."

ROCK SLIDE

The three men were trapped by a rock slide Aug. 13. They were all but given up for dead before a drill cut a six-inch hole to the chamber holding Thorne and Fellin just before midnight on Sunday.

This six-inch hole has become a lifeline, enabling food and medicine to be sent down to Fellin and Thorne. It is used also for communicating with the men.

Widower for Sale

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A 37-year-old widower advertised himself for sale Tuesday for £1,200 Australian ($2,916). The buyer will get four children, a fully furnished house and a car thrown in.

The man, who did not give his name, invited offers from any woman between 28 and 36 who would like to get married.

Raid
Pagodas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam. (UPI) — Soldiers and policemen raided four Buddhist pagodas today, firing pistol shots and tossing tear gas grenades at protesting priests.

In Tokyo, the U.S. Embassy announced martial law had been declared throughout South Viet Nam.

The raids, including one at the main Xa Loi Buddhist temple in Saigon where priests have been on a two-day hunger strike, climaxed a three-month long religious political dispute between South Viet Nam's Buddhist majority and the government of Ngo Dinh Diem, Roman Catholic president.

The police arrested 100 Buddhists at the Xa Loi Pagoda. All cable and telephone communications with Saigon were cut off shortly after the raids, and a Saigon-bound U.S. Air Force plane bypassed the city because the airport was closed.

Israel
Syria
Clash

JERUSALEM (AP) — Violence erupted in the air and on the ground Tuesday along the Israeli-Syrian armistice line north of the Sea of Galilee.

Syria and Israel promptly accused each other of aggression, and both sides claimed aerial victories.

Israel notified UN Secretary-General U Thant in New York that it will ask for an urgent meeting of the UN Security Council on the conflict.

DELEGATE TOLD

The Syrian government termed the air and ground clashes "serious Israeli aggression" and ordered its UN delegate to bring the situation to the immediate attention of Thant.

The request for UN action came after an Israeli Army spokesman claimed Soviet-built Syrian jets tried to penetrate Israeli air space and were intercepted by French-made Israeli Mirage jet fighters.

AGASSIZ (CP) — The trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors reached their oft-proclaimed goal Tuesday, setting up camp close to the barbed wire walls of Mountain Prison and promptly declaring a mass fast.

There was no violence despite a confrontation between the 650 Freedomites and a knot of RCMP D (Doukhobor) Squad officers within scant yards of the big steel gate of the prison.

After an unsuccessful attempt to obtain permission to enter the prison to join their 106 fasting brethren, jailed for terrorist activities, the Freedomites called a prayer meeting.

RUSSIAN HYMNS

Amid chanting of Russian hymns, Mrs. Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff, leader of the sect's year-long trek from their burned-out Kootenay homes, announced: "They will start fasting today."

The Freedomites then began setting up a sprawling tent camp on municipal land within hailing distance of the concrete-and-steel fireproof prison.

NET UP TENTS

As the Freedomites set up tents, chopped down trees and hauled water to their new campsite following Tuesday's migration from Vancouver, municipal officials looked on without comment.

Later, Mrs. Lewis Davis, wife of the acting reeve, said municipal officials decided to "let them stay . . . and we'll try and decide today what to do with them."

NO DECISION

There was no decision on enforcement of a bylaw restricting tent camps to 10 persons an acre.

There was no immediate move by RCMP to enforce the bylaw or move the chanting Freedomites, who travelled here by car, truck and chartered bus from Victoria Square in downtown Vancouver.

KENT BYLAW

In Victoria, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said only that the Kent bylaw concerning camping appeared to be valid and would be enforced. No special instructions to RCMP were necessary, he said.

At one point during the evening, the Freedomites held a hymn singing, tearful meeting only 100 yards from the gates of the prison, where the imprisoned Freedomites are in the 20th day of a hunger strike.

McLEOD WATCHES

Watching were A. J. McLeod, commissioner of federal penitentiaries, Warden Tom Hall and a knot of RCMP officers.

Shortly after their arrival here, about 100 Freedomites, led by Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff and Andrew Makoroff, an elder of the sect, approached the prison but were stopped by RCMP.

STAY INSIDE

The Freedomites asked to be allowed inside to stay with their imprisoned brethren. They were refused.

"As long as there is no trouble we won't bother you," RCMP Sgt. John Stinson, head of the "D" squad, told the Freedomites.

"But I cannot allow anyone into the prison."

The Freedomites then dispersed and began setting up camp.

The Social Credit government has abandoned tolls forever, Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday.

He made the statement following Premier Bennett's announcement in Vancouver that tolls would be removed next year from the Oak Street bridge and Deas Island tunnel.

"With the general buoyancy of the economy, we are now able to do without tolls as a policy or even as an expediency," the attorney-general said.

Socred Leader:

Pay for MPs
Bothers Few

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson said Tuesday he has received little reaction from across the country to the hefty pay increase that MPs voted themselves.

Mr. Thompson, who returned to the capital Monday after a two-week holiday break at his Red Deer home, said his own constituents hardly mentioned the matter and his office here has received only 30 complaining letters, almost all of them from old age pensioners.

"I had some people complain back home but I asked them how much they pay their high school teachers, their city administrators and their doctors. Surely their representative in Parliament ought to be worth as much," the Social Credit leader said in an interview.

UNFAIR TO COMPARE

He said the amount of the increase may have been a little too large: "perhaps it could have been done in two stages." But he said it is not fair to criticize the principle of the increase on grounds that the proposed $10 monthly increase for old age pensioners should have been enacted first.

"Parliamentary salaries and old age pensions are two entirely separate matters and they can't be compared," he said. The money needed to pay the extra to MPs—about $1,500,000—would only give pensioners an extra $1 a year, he added.

In Ontario

TORONTO (UPI) — The Ontario Social Credit organization split Tuesday on whether the party would enter the Sept. 25 Ontario election.

Three Toronto Socred candidates were nominated Monday but Richard Day, an executive of the provincial Social Credit League, said the party would not contest the election.

James Audy, of a Social Credit action group not recognized by Day, said the group backed the trio and added: "We are the fighters who went through an election and lost. We are the people who count. Unfortunately there are a few like Richard Day . . . they are no credit to Social Credit."

Negroes Scattered
By Police Guns

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police fired rifle and shotgun blasts in the air in attempts to disperse large crowds of Negroes who gathered after an explosion extensively damaged the home of a Negro lawyer Tuesday night.

Police said one officer was injured when hit in the chest by a large rock. He was taken to hospital for x-rays.

There were no reports of further injuries after the arrival of police.

Police said the home of lawyer Arthur D. Shores was hit by an undetermined type of explosive. No one was injured in the blast. Shores was home alone at the time.

RECENTLY WITHDRAWN

Shores is a lawyer for James A. Hood, a Negro student who recently withdrew from the University of Alabama on the advice of his physician.

Police called for reinforcements. An officer on the scene said large crowds were gathering and rocks and bricks were being thrown at officers.

Several fire trucks were dispatched to the north Birmingham section for lighting purposes, police said.

TEN DEMANDS

In New York leaders of the Aug. 28 civil rights march on Washington issued final instructions for the gigantic protest and for the first time detailed 10 demands the expected 100,000 marchers will present to President Kennedy.

In addition to support for President Kennedy's package of civil rights legislation, the demonstration leaders demanded immediate desegregation of all school districts, a minimum wage of $2 per hour or more and reducing the Congressional representation of any state continuing a policy of racial discrimination.

Satellites sometimes burn themselves up and explode, he said, and that this could have happened.

Saanich Woman Attacked In Home

A Saanich housewife placed an emergency call for help Monday night just as an assailant broke into her bedroom and struck her unconscious with the telephone receiver.

Mrs. William Sendall, 1592 Sonria, was sitting in her living room watching television and knitting when a man walked in the door and tried to kiss her.

BROKE FREE

Mrs. Sendall struggled with the intruder, broke free, and ran to her bedroom where there is an extension telephone.

She just managed to dial the operator and shout "call the police" before the man grabbed her, knocked her unconscious with the telephone during the ensuing struggle, and ran from the house.

Her husband, who was working the late shift for the B.C. Telephone Company, answered the emergency call.

TRACED NUMBER

She suffered only a bad fright and a bump on her head.

WAKE CHILDREN

She said she did not scream during the attack because she was afraid she might wake her children and that the attacker might harm them.

She described the man as about 25 years old, five feet eight inches tall and about 170 pounds. She said he had a dark, dirty complexion and was in a generally filthy condition.

Youth Group Helps Hospital

Henry Landry, 18, president of the Demers Catholic Youth Organization, said Tuesday "we hope we can raise the cheque over to hospital authorities some time this week."

Jubilee

Patient Shift Begins

Royal Jubilee Hospital officials Tuesday started the move of patients from the old building into the new five-story wing.

First patient transferred to the modern, multi-million-dollar wing was Mrs. C. H. Auckland, 912 Heywood.

She was one of 20 patients moved yesterday. Another 30 patients will be moved Thursday and 70 more next week.

Numerous other changes still have to be made.

Surgery space on the top floor will be in use by mid-September. X-ray machines will be ready about a week later and the Victoria Cancer Clinic will settle into its new home in mid-October.

After that workmen will start renovating the older sections of the hospital.

Pat Bay Highway

By JACK FRY

The provincial highways department has decided to set aside some of its land along the Patricia Bay Highway for development of park strips to preserve the area's natural beauty, it was learned Tuesday.

The major policy decision by the highways department was seen by Capital Region Planning Board director Anthony Robert as a vital step towards creation of park strips from Swartz Bay through to Goldstream Park.

IN SO MANY

"The board hopes this region can be saved from a Gasline Alley (highway commercial) entrance which is found in so many North American cities today," he said.

"If we don't watch it, our very fragile 20 miles from Swartz Bay to Victoria could be one messy Kingsway (referring to highly commercialized Kingsway between Vancouver and Burnaby)," he said.

NEW BYPASS

The Capital Region Planning Board recently asked Highway Minister Gagliardi for his support of the park strip principle, and in particular, urged a start of the parkway treatment be made at the newly-built airport bypass.

The board received the backing of Victoria, Saanich, Oak

Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich Councils, the Sidney village commission and the Victoria branch of the B.C. Automobile Association.

Announcement of the highways department decision came to the CRPB in a letter from deputy highways minister H. T. Miard.

The letter said there were considerable areas of surplus land along the Patricia Bay Highway—near the airport bypass and near McDonald Park north of Sidney—from which the department was willing to retain park strips, Mr. Roberts said.

ALSO WILLING

The highways department was also willing to accept any additional land which is given and dedicated for park strip purposes, and to look after its development.

"The department was not ready at this time, however, to buy extra land for this purpose."

"The board was pleased the minister accepted the principle that entrances to the region should be treated as parkways, and felt retaining of its land for park strips is an important step toward the objective of full parkway treatment," said Mr. Roberts.

NO DESIGN

No detailed design for the parkway development has been worked out, but it is believed that in some places the land would be left in its natural state, it would be improved in other places, and picnic tables might be placed at intervals along the highway.

The Capital Improvement District Commission recently acquired strips of land for park preservation bordering the highway between Goldstream Park and Thetis Lake.

SWAMP AWAY

The snake then slithered into the water and swam away, she said. Two red puncture marks, about an eighth of an inch apart, were found on the girl's hand.

Miss Fleming did not see the snake and was not aware of how she had injured her hand until a day later, when two small puncture marks appeared on her swollen hand.

HIGHEST EXPRESSION

Senora Mateos said murals have become one of the "highest expressions" of the arts that have flourished since the 1910 revolution in Mexico. She paid tribute to Mr. Salgo, a Mexican by adoption, as "one of the most Mexican of Mexican artists" who has been able to "express the soul and color" of the country in his work.

The artist, who was present, said he was deeply touched. "The presence of Mexico's distinguished first lady makes this the most important moment in my 33-year career as a muralist and painter," said Mr. Salgo.

FIRST MOVE
He added: "This is the first move in a cultural exchange between Canada and Mexico. I sincerely hope to have the honor of creating similar historical murals in other provinces."

Logging Tours Planned

By FRED ANNESLEY

NANAIMO—Mayor Pete Maffeo plans to show Hub City tourists just what Canadian logging is like — with conducted tours of the woods.

"The Colonist learned Tuesday he is attempting to enlist the co-operation of logging companies in the area for regular tours of the logging sites—as many as two a week."

SAMPLE TOUR

To gain support for his plan to combine logging and tourism, Mayor Maffeo has arranged a sample tour for a group of leading citizens Tuesday.

He will take all members of Nanaimo tourist bureau committee, several city aldermen, two RCMP officers and a group of motel operators on a tour of the Crown Zellerbach operations on Green Mountain.

Death of Duncan Boy

DUNCAN—Two new charges have been laid against a 17-year-old Duncan boy already charged with manslaughter following the sudden death of 14-year-old Hugh George Nesbitt of Maple Bay.

And charges were also laid against a second boy, out of the same circumstances.

The Nesbitt boy died of as-yet-undisclosed injuries near his Bazzett Road home at the intersection of Maple Bay and Genoa Bay Roads on the evening of Aug. 8.

OTHER CHARGES

Yesterday, in Duncan juvenile court, the Duncan youth heard the two other charges—supplying liquor to two underage girls and possession of liquor.

No plea was taken on any of the three charges and he was remanded until Monday. Crown prosecutor David Williams of Duncan told Magistrate Colin Anderson of Lake Cowichan the juvenile's defence counsel, Angelo Branca, had requested him to postpone the Crown's request to raise the accused into adult court.

Mr. Branca, a well-known Vancouver lawyer, was not in court and Duncan lawyer Thomas Lines acted on his behalf. Bail of $1,000 was continued.

David Richard Bossons, 18, of Duncan, was remanded without plea until Sept. 6 on three charges—threatening to commit common assault; supplying liquor to two minor girls, and being a minor in possession of liquor.

Freighter Hits Skiff Use of Lifebelt Kills Fisherman

Observing a safety measure may have cost a fisherman his life when his skiff collided with an ocean-going freighter in the Strait of Juan de Fuca Tuesday.

Witnesses to the accident, which took place close to five miles south of Carmanah Point, said the dead man was wearing a life jacket when he jumped clear of the skiff after it was sideswiped by the steamer.

He was apparently caught by the ship's propeller and lost a leg. His partner was apparently not wearing a lifebelt and sank out of range of the propeller, coming to the surface again after the ship passed.

The dead man was identified by police as Asbjorn Brattli, 10873-130th Street, North Surrey. His partner, who suffered shock from the dive into icy waters and the ordeal of the crash, was identified as Raymond Bak, 2725 West 31st Avenue, Vancouver.

Both men were members of the crew of the Nelson Bros.-owned seine boat Western Girl.

VANCOUVER-BOUND

The freighter involved was Sa. Horace Luckenbach owned by Luckenbach Steamship Company of New York. She was bound for Vancouver.

The two men were loaded aboard a fishing skiff and transferred to the fisheries patrol vessel Howay. Brattli was believed to have been dead before the transfer took place.

The accident took place around 10 a.m.

MEDICAL TEAM

After making their pick-up, the Howay sped to Port Renfrew where she was met by a medical team aboard an RCAF search and rescue service Albatross from Vancouver.

Bak was loaded aboard and returned to Vancouver where he declared he was all right. Later he reported to RCAF he was going to a doctor for a checkup.

The Western Girl was one of a large seine boat fleet at present fishing the waters of Juan de Fuca Strait.

Building Rite Welds Canada-Mexico Amity

An impressive array of dignitaries, both local and foreign, participated in Tuesday's opening ceremonies for the new Montreal Trust building on Fort Street.

Premier Bennett, just back from Britain, officially opened the building by unlocking the front door before a crowd of some 100 spectators.

The wife of Mexico's president, Senora Dona Eva Samano

de Lopez Mateos, made a short speech before unveiling a plaque commemorating the work of her countryman, muralist Andres Salgo.

She was introduced by Lt.-Gov. George Pearkes, host to Senora Mateos during her Victoria stay which ends Thursday. The president's wife came to B.C. to open the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver last weekend.

Senora Mateos said murals have become one of the "highest expressions" of the arts that have flourished since the 1910 revolution in Mexico.

Scummy, Soupy Algae Turns Glen Lake Green

Residents of the Glen Lake area, some 12 miles northwest of Victoria, are wondering if they should change the name to Green Lake—the small body of water is filled with scum-like, green algae.

Several persons there said yesterday that the water is so soupy that people have stopped swimming in the lake. One man said his son put some of "the dirty stuff" from the lake under a microscope and saw hundreds of things wriggling around.

One oldtimer, Marcel Bouvour, 3163 Glen Lake Road, who has lived there for the past 15 years, said he has never seen the lake in worse condition than it is now.

The water used to be clear and people swam in it. There was some algae in the lake last fall and it is worse now, he said.

"I pump water from the lake for my garden but yesterday my pump was stuck. I guess it is plugged with the stuff from the lake," Mr. Bouvour said.

The water used to be clear and people swam in it. There was some algae in the lake last fall and it is worse now, he said.

"I pump water from the lake for my garden but yesterday my pump was stuck. I guess it is plugged with the stuff from the lake," Mr. Bouvour said.

Victoria Girl Wins Degree

A Victoria girl, Catherine M. Hummel, 1252 Beach Drive, has won a Master of Arts degree at the Middlebury College French School in Vermont.

One oldtimer, Marcel Bouvour, 3163 Glen Lake Road, who has lived there for the past 15 years, said he has never seen the lake in worse condition than it is now.

Alberni Officer Plans Studies At Cambridge

PORT ALBERNI—A man who sees room for improvement in Canada's approach to crime and the criminal leaves Port Alberni this weekend to study at Cambridge University, said to have the world's foremost institute of criminology.

John Hogarth, probation officer for this district for the past 18 months, will be succeeded by William Mussell.

Both are graduates of UBC, where Mr. Hogarth received his BA in Slavonic studies and his BA in Slavonic studies and psychology.

Mr. Hogarth financed his university studies by working for the probation branch, became so interested in the work that he abandoned the idea of practicing law. He finds a knowledge of law an advantage in the career he has chosen. About 70 per cent of his work in this area has been with juveniles.

"I'd like to see the Department of Social Welfare's family service work developed in this district and I would like to see the mental health clinic operating in Nanaimo to provide service for the valley.

"Specialized counselling should be carried on in the school system so that problems can be dealt with before they become acute," Mr. Hogarth said.

He and Mr. Mussell agree that with adequate facilities much work in crime prevention can be done in the schools.

Mr. Hogarth will be accompanied by his wife, a member of the social service staff here, when he leaves for England. He expects to spend from one to three years studying at Cambridge.

"We hope to visit correctional institutions in many of the European countries," he said.

He spoke of high standards for treatment of sex criminals and to take part in a bus tour to the disposal lagoon which the city shares with Port Alberni. The opening ceremony will be held at the Margaret Street pump station.

DUNCAN—One of the highlights during this year's Cowichan exhibition, Sept. 6 and 7, will be a giant midway with at least eight major rides and a number of sideshows covering an acre of the fair grounds. Exhibition secretary Mrs. K. Mynkantas said it will be much bigger than those in the past. The midway will be sponsored by Duncan Jaycees.

Another special attraction for youngsters will be the children's races for age groups between four and under 14. Featured will be flat races, three-legged and wheelbarrow races. Cash prizes will be awarded to first, second and third winners.

Chairman of the flower section, Mrs. J. V. Donohue said a new 60 feet by 24 feet building on the grounds will be used this year.

Freely circulating air through slat walls will keep flowers fresh longer. Mrs. Donohue said more categories have been added and two more prizes are available this year.

VANCOUVER—Robert Smith, 17, of Burnaby and David Armour, 16, of Port Alberni, were rescued unharmed Monday night after their gillnetter started sinking one-half mile south of Point Atkinson. The youths were taken aboard a second gillnetter, Sea Venture.

ALBERNI—Two Vancouver men were treated at West Coast general hospital and released following an accident on Alberni Highway at midnight Monday.

and alcoholics in Denmark and of the fact that Belgium has fewer penitentiary inmates than B.C.

Rehabilitation and prevention measures in the older countries will be studied and assessed, but Mr. Hogarth said he hopes to return to Canada to put his new knowledge into practice.

Mr. Mussell, who has completed three months of in-service training with the probation branch, is unmarried. His home was in Chilliwack and he took his practical training at New Haven and in Victoria.

DUNCAN—One of the highlights of the annual picnic of IWA Local 180 at the Ivy Green Park north of Ladysmith, was a tug-of-war between members from the southern and northern ends of the union's area.

The winning southern team comprised J. Abgrall, Louis Rozdeba, Robert Haslam, Doug Baird, Jules Vermiere, Jerry Vermiere, E. Hendrikson, Paul Werem, Paul Canton, Lorne Canton, Ernie Canton, and Boris Palasz.

CHEMAMINUS—Police court: Eugene L. Ryan of Duncan, crossing double solid line, $10; Daniel Mallette of Duncan, failing to yield right of way, $20; Barry Baxter of Duncan and George E. Beaulieu of Chemaminus, consuming liquor in a public place, $50 each.

ALBERNI—Mayor Fred Bishop will officiate when Alberni's new sewerage system is officially opened at 11 a.m. Saturday.

The system was built under a $600,000 bylaw by Interior Contractors Ltd.

The public is invited to the ceremonies at the pump house

Real Live Wire!

LONDON (UPI) — When Australian visitor John Moffat threw a dart in the King's Head pub last night, he missed the board and hit a light bulb instead.

All the lights in the pub went out.

Pub keeper Bruce Newton fell downstairs while looking for the fuse-box.

Newton's dog Bilko bit his master in the leg.

Barkeeper Daryl Hodge gashed his hand on a glass in the darkness.

Somebody stole the dart board.

Tend Land Russia Tells China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union told Communist China Tuesday to forget about trying to become a nuclear power and devote its energies toward economic development.

The advice was contained in a vitriolic, 2,000-word statement published by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, which Tass described as "an evaluation" of the Communist Chinese charge last Thursday that Moscow had reneged on a pledge to give nuclear arms to Peking.

NO DENIAL

Tass did not specifically deny or confirm the charge. It said that China was annoyed with "a policy of the Soviet Union and other socialist states of not spreading nuclear weapons."

"The nuclear might of the Soviet Union reliably stands guard over the interests of the peoples fighting for social and national liberation," Tass said.

Curbs Adequate Kennedy Insists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy expressed confidence Tuesday adequate safeguards will be provided for the security of the United States if the Senate ratifies the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Reds Call For End To Bases

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia insisted Tuesday even unarmed foreign military bases must be eliminated in the first stage of disarmament.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that whatever the legal basis might be, bases reserved for foreign use must be dismantled, even though there might be no troops in them.

Tsarapkin also said Russia is opposed to exchange of static observation posts between East and West unless this control is accompanied by disarmament measures.

Snoop Fired

HOT SPRINGS, S.D. (CP) This community's police chief was fired Tuesday for placing a hidden microphone in the city council chamber.

Mayor Charles McCallister, who fired Chief Charles Fleishman, 55, said "an outside source" tipped him the two wanted to tape an expected council discussion of a pay increase for Miller. But the meeting didn't discuss it.

Drilling Continues

Third Miner Still Alive

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — A third missing miner, who hadn't been heard from in nearly 40 hours, made contact Tuesday night with the other two who have been separated from him by debris 331 feet underground since a cave-in eight days ago. He was reported alive but in weak condition.

David Fellin, one of the trapped miners who has been communicating with authorities through a microphone lowered down a six-inch hole, reported that he shouted the name of the third missing man, Louis Bova, 42, and heard Bova call back.

Fellin said he talked to Bova twice but could not determine what he said. He said Bova is weak and "I told him don't waste your energy." Fellin said Bova rapped twice.

COMMUNICATED

Another miner with Fellin, Henry Throne, is communicating with the surface through a similar six-inch shaft.

Near it rescue workers kept at the tedious job of drilling an escape hole through hard rock 331 feet down to Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28.

Fellin earlier had told his weeping wife, Anna, "I'm all right, but cold."

ROCK SLIDE

The three men were trapped by a rock slide Aug. 13. They were all but given up for dead before a drill cut a six-inch hole to the chamber holding Throne and Fellin just before midnight on Sunday.

This six-inch hole has become a lifeline, enabling food and medicine to be sent down to Fellin and Throne. It is used also for communicating with the men.

Landslide Winner

Back in British House of Commons is Anthony Wedgwood Benn, former MP and later "reluctant peer," who won campaign against rule against Commons seats for peers. In Bristol by-election, he won 50,313 votes compared to total of 5,163 for three independent opponents. Tories and Liberals did not oppose Laborite winner.

Not for 'Real Smashers'

Widower for Sale

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A 37-year-old widower advertised himself for sale Tuesday for £1,200 Australian ($2,916). The buyer will get four children, a fully furnished house and a car thrown in.

The man, who did not give his name, invited offers from any woman, between 28 and 36 who would like to get married.

But he said "no beauty queens need apply" because he would feel uneasy if he was seen walking down the street with a "real smasher."

110 Perish In Mosque

NAGPUR, India (Reuters) — About 110 persons were killed Tuesday night when a mosque collapsed at Yeatmal, 85 miles southwest of here.

The mosque fell while 300 people were inside praying.

Police said 68 were seriously hurt and another 100 slightly injured.

State Of Siege

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The South Viet Nam government has declared a state of siege throughout the country, according to an English-language broadcast by Saigon radio monitored here today.

In the growing crisis between the predominantly Roman Catholic government and the Buddhists, crack troops and police riot squads moved in and occupied leading Buddhist temples including Xa Loi Padoga and Tu Dam Padoga in Hue.

In the operation against Xa Loi Padoga, there were casualties but details were not available, diplomatic sources said.

Troops and police pursued monks who fled from Xa Loi. Xa Loi is in Saigon and is one of the main gathering places for Buddhists protesting religious discrimination by the government. Informed sources said that police occupied Xa Loi.

There was some shooting and casualties in Saigon and the main post office was closed.

The army had taken over all communications facilities, the radio said.

Israel Syria Clash

JERUSALEM (AP) — Violence erupted in the air and on the ground Tuesday along the Israeli-Syrian armistice line north of the Sea of Galilee.

Syria and Israel promptly accused each other of aggression, and both sides claimed aerial victories.

Israel notified UN Secretary-General U Thant in New York that it will ask for an urgent meeting of the UN Security Council on the conflict.

The Syrian government termed the air and ground clashes "serious Israeli aggression" and ordered its UN delegate to bring the situation to the immediate attention of U Thant.

AGASSIZ (CP) — The trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors reached their oft-proclaimed goal Tuesday, setting up camp close to the barbed wire walls of Mountain Prison and promptly declaring a mass fast.

There was no violence despite a confrontation between the 500 Freedomites and a knot of RCMP D (Doukhobor) Squad officers within scant yards of the big steel gate of the prison.

After an unsuccessful attempt to obtain permission to enter the prison to join their 106 fasting brethren, jailed for terrorist activities, the Freedomites called a prayer meeting.

RUSSIAN HYMNS

Amid chanting of Russian hymns, Mrs. Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff, leader of the sect's year-long trek from their burned-out Kontenay homes, announced: "They will start fasting today."

The Freedomites then began setting up a sprawling tent camp on municipal land within hailing distance of the concrete-and-steel fireproof prison.

SET UP TENTS

As the Freedomites set up tents, chopped down trees and hauled water to their new campsite following Tuesday's migration from Vancouver, municipal officials looked on without comment.

Later, Mrs. Lewis Davis, wife of the acting reeve, said municipal officials decided to "let them stay... and we'll try and decide today what to do with them."

NO DECISION

There was no decision on enforcement of a bylaw restricting tent camps to 10 persons an acre.

There was no immediate move by RCMP to enforce the bylaw or move the chanting Freedomites, who travelled here by car, truck and chartered bus from Victoria Square in downtown Vancouver.

KENT BYLAW

In Victoria, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said only that the Kent bylaw concerning camping appeared to be valid and would be enforced. No special instructions to RCMP were necessary, he said.

At one point during the evening, the Freedomites held a hymn singing, tearful meeting only 100 yards from the gates of the prison, where the imprisoned Freedomites are in the 30th day of a hunger strike.

McLEOD WATCHES

Watching were A. J. McLeod, commissioner of federal penitentiaries, Warden Tom Hall and a knot of RCMP officers.

Shortly after their arrival here, about 100 Freedomites, led by Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff and Andrew Makoroff, an elder of the sect, approached the prison but were stopped by RCMP.

STAY INSIDE

The Freedomites asked to be allowed inside to stay with their imprisoned brethren. They were refused.

"As long as there is no trouble here we won't bother you," RCMP Sgt. John Stinson, head of the "D" squad, told the Freedomites.

"But I cannot allow anyone into the prison."

The Freedomites then dispersed and began setting up camp.

B.C. Quits Tolls 'Forever'

The Social Credit government has abandoned tolls forever, Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday.

He made the statement following Premier Bennett's announcement in Vancouver that tolls would be removed next year from the Oak Street bridge and Deas Island tunnel.

"With the general buoyancy of the economy, we are now able to divest ourselves of tolls as a policy or even as an expediency," the attorney-general said.

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson said Tuesday he has received little reaction from across the country to the hefty pay increase that MPs voted themselves.

Socreds Split In Ontario

TORONTO (UPI) — The Ontario Social Credit organization split Tuesday on whether the party would enter the Sept. 25 Ontario election.

Three Toronto Socred candidates were nominated Monday but Richard Day, an executive of the provincial Social Credit League, said the party would not contest the election.

James Audy, of a Social Credit action group not recognized by Day, said the group backed the trio and added: "We are the fighters who went through an election and lost. We are the people who count. Unfortunately there are a few like Richard Day... they are no credit to Social Credit."

Negroes Scattered By Police Guns

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police fired rifle and shotgun blasts in the air in attempts to disperse large crowds of Negroes who gathered after an explosion extensively damaged the home of a Negro lawyer Tuesday night.

Police said one officer was injured when hit in the chest by a large rock. He was taken to hospital for x-rays.

There were no reports of further injuries.

Police said the home of lawyer Arthur D. Shores was hit by an undetermined type of explosive. No one was injured in the blast. Shores was home alone at the time.

RECENTLY WITHDREW

Shores is a lawyer for James A. Hood, a Negro student who recently withdrew from the University of Alabama on the advice of his physician.

Police called for reinforcements. An officer on the scene said large crowds were gathering and rocks and bricks were being thrown at officers.

Several fire trucks were dispatched to the north Birmingham section for lighting purposes, police said.

TEN DEMANDS

In New York leaders of the Aug. 28 civil rights march on Washington issued final instructions for the gigantic protest and for the first time detailed 10 demands the expected 100,000 marchers will present to President Kennedy.

In addition to support for President Kennedy's package of civil rights legislation, the demonstration leaders demanded immediate desegregation of all school districts, a minimum wage of $2 per hour or more and reducing the Congressional representation of any state continuing a policy of racial discrimination.

Sky Blast Baffles Australia

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A tremendous atmospheric explosion shook buildings in the Kimberley mountains area of western Australia Monday night, it was reported Tuesday.

Observers said they saw a trail of smoke and a ball of brilliant orange flame and heard an explosion. A weather office spokesman said cause of the explosion was unexplained.

Satellites sometimes burn themselves up and explode, he said, and that this could have happened.
